Britain Sees Hitler Bid For Peace as Diplomats Watch Parley in Moscow

Military Pact Be- tween Reds and Nazis Possible

MAJOR ISSUES

Russia Reported to be Making Demands On Estonia

Moscow.—The official soviet agency, Tass, today reported the second attack in two days by an unidentified submarine on soviet shipping near Estonia.

The agency said the captain of the 967-ton soviet steamer Pioneer radioed that an unknown submarine had forced him to run onto the rocks of Vigrud bank while trying to enter Narva bay.

The bay is on Estonia's northern coast.

A salvage expedition was dispatched to aid the Pioneer, whose crew was reported in no danger.

Russia said yesterday that a mysterious submarine had sunk the soviet steamer Metallist in the same general region. The announcement coincided with soviet press attacks on Estonia accusing her of harboring foreign warships.

Estonian relations received attention while soviet negotiations went under way with Germany and Turkey.

Moscow.—In the presence of Joseph Stalin, German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop consulted today with Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov and diplomats wondered about the possibility of another quick move to shift Europe's balance of power.

With two other foreign ministers here, representing Turkey and Estonia, Moscow was the proud center of intense diplomatic activity.

For Von Ribbentrop this was the second visit to Moscow in little more than a month. On Aug. 23 soviet Russia and Germany concluded the rest of Europe when they negotiated a nonaggression pact.

Only a few hours after his plane landed, the German diplomat entered the Kremlin last night for his initial conference with Molotov. With Stalin sitting in the meeting room until 2:30 a. m. today (5:30 p. m. Wednesday, C.S.T.).

The length of the first talk—four and one-half hours—indicated several problems were involved and announcement the conversations would continue today indicated decisions still were to be made.

In addition to questions rising from the Russian-German pact, Poland, most observers believed other major issues confronted the conferees. They speculated on the possibility of some form of military pact to broaden present nonaggression ties and also on the chance of a new Balkan bloc, with Turkey participating.

It was significant that Von Ribbentrop while in Turkey, Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu and aids were here for a three-day visit.

While Von Ribbentrop was being received yesterday, Estonia's foreign minister, Karl Selter, came back to Moscow for the second time in three days. Ostensibly the Estonian was here for negotiation of a trade pact.

However, unofficial reports persisted Russia was making demands upon Estonia for fortification concessions in Estonian waters on the gulf of Finland and the Baltic sea.

Relations with Estonia were emphasized last night by a broadcast reporting the sinking of the Russian freighter Metallist, near Narva bay, off the northern coast of Estonia. The announcement said the Metallist was sunk by an unidentified submarine. Nineteen of her crew of 24 were reported rescued. (The Russian announcement described the freighter as a vessel of the Baltic Sea.)

London Expects Spec- tacular Move From Fuehrer to End War

London.—(P)—Conviction that Adolf Hitler is working toward a spectacular "end the war" move designed to force British and French acceptance of the "liquidation" of Poland grew in diplomatic circles today.

The British government kept guarded silence on German-Russian negotiations at Moscow but many informed observers expressed belief Hitler would make the talks a springboard for a "peace offensive."

Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax had another interview with Russian Ambassador Ivan Maisky yesterday, apparently seeking light on enigmatic Russian policy.

Talking with Maisky last Saturday night, the foreign secretary requested the Russian government to provide information on its future aims in eastern Europe. How Maisky replied to Halifax was not disclosed officially.

Nation Accepts Taxes
Britain grimly went ahead with preparations for a war of any length to "crush Hitlerism"—Prime Minister Chamberlain's own description of the British objective.

Unflinchingly the nation accepted financial sacrifices called for yesterday in a £2,000,000,000 (approximately $8,000,000,000) war budget submitted to parliament by the chancellor of the exchequer, Sir John Simon.

The budget called for a 35 per cent standard tax on income until next March 31 and of the fiscal year, and 37.5 per cent in the next year. The rate has been 27.5 per cent.

The new income tax set a high for peace or war. Also increased were levies on alcoholic drink, tobacco and sugar.

The Bank of England reduced its discount rate today from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent.

Federation Head Scores CIO Chief

Green Says Dual Union- ism Must End Before La- bor Peace Is Declared

Cincinnati.—(P)—American Federation of Labor President William Green, assailing John L. Lewis for invading the building trades field with a rival CIO union, served notice today there would be no peace in labor's ranks until dual unionism was ended.

In a speech to the AFL building trades convention, Green declared that Lewis' campaign to establish an industrial union in the building construction field long dominated by the most powerful craft unions of the federation meant "war."

"It is a raid," he shouted, "a continuation of raids on many other AFL organizations. I do not believe any red-blooded men in the building trades will allow anyone to raid their unions and destroy them."

"We can have solidarity and union in the ranks of organized labor if we maintain dualism," he added. "Dualism must end."

The AFL leader appealed to the building trades union to end the "vexing problem" or jurisdictional disputes so that building programs could be planned with assurance of no strike interruptions.

Ray C. Campbell, a labor relations expert for the general works agency, today advocated advance planning of a public works program to keep the nation on a basis of "economic preparedness" to meet business declines.

The experience of the PWA programs, he said in a speech prepared for the AFL building trades convention, "has taught us an effective means of preventing future depressions."

"It has been demonstrated," he stated, "that through cooperative action of national, state and local governments, a public works program on a national scale is practical."

Insurance-Slaying Defendant Admits Guilt During Trial

Philadelphia.—(P)—Paul Petrillo, tried as a central figure in the Philadelphia murder-for-insurance ring, suddenly pleaded guilty today—the fourteenth day of his trial.

The little tailor had been pictured as the "master mind" of the plot. Two "poison widows" have been convicted. The women were just minor characters, investigators say, in a conspiracy that spread into four eastern states and took "up to 100" lives.

"You understand," Judge Albert S. C. Millar told Petrillo, "there has been no promise, bargain or arrangement as to the degree of the crime or the penalty."

"Yes sir, I do," replied Petrillo calmly.

"And you still want to change your plea," Judge Millar asked. Petrillo nodded.

Heil Demands Republicans In Legislature Support His Bill To Put Tax on Gross Incomes

LEGION'S CHIEF

Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit today was elected national commander of the American Legion at its convention in Chicago. His election was unanimous, after withdrawal of two other candidates.

Kelly was chosen unanimously to succeed Stephen F. Chadwick of Seattle, after two other contenders for the office had withdrawn. The new chief of the organization of 1,026,084 former service men has been head of Detroit's legal department since 1933. He worked his way through the Universities of Notre Dame and Detroit and served 10 months overseas during the World war as a lieutenant in the artillery.

The two legionnaires who were nominated but who withdrew in favor of Kelly were Lynn Stambaugh of Fargo, N. D., and Milo Warner of Toledo, Ohio.

Earlier the delegates to the twenty-first annual convention of the legion approved a demand for legislation to "outlaw" from American politics the Communist party, the German bund and "similar organizations."

Delegates approved the report of the Americanism committee urging such action.

The announcement also asked continuation of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities.

Swedish Vessel Sunk Off Norwegian Coast

Stavanger, Norway.—(P)—The crew of the 3,378-ton Swedish freighter Nyland, picked up from lifeboats off the Norwegian coast, asserted their ship had been halted by a submarine early today and torpedoed seven hours later.

The entire crew of 29 was saved by Norwegian torpedo boats.

The Nyland, with a cargo of iron ore for Antwerp, had tied up here for a week, but put out late last night.

Polish Army Flier Declares Warsaw Is City Of Ruin and Tragedy; Bombs Set Many Fires

Budapest.—(P)—Except for strange, scattered signals, the wavelenth of the Warsaw radio was silent today.

Apparently the station's epic tale was told, ended on the same defiant note it struck during the 20 days it told the outside world of German siege.

Its last message, broadcast at 3 o'clock p. m. (5 a. m. C. S. T.) yesterday, was a new challenge to the Nazi besiegers:

"We will never give in while one of us is alive."

But last night the Polish Telegraph agency carried a dispatch, dated Warsaw, which indicated that defense of the Polish capital had been abandoned.

German announcements said the city had capitulated unconditionally and would surrender formally tomorrow.

Children Support Bergdoll's Story

Back Testimony That Father Lived Se- cretly in U. S.

New York.—(P)—Two of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll's five children today corroborated their father's testimony that he lived secretly in Philadelphia during part of the 19 years he was supposedly a fugitive in Germany.

Bergdoll, on trial before a general court martial on charges of desertion and escape, testified yesterday he shipped back into the United States twice, remaining four years the first time and three years the second. Both times, he swore, he lived in the home of his mother, Mrs. Emma Bergdoll, in Wynnefield avenue, Philadelphia, but never ventured from the house.

His oldest son, Alfred, 12, who has attended William P. Mann school in Philadelphia for the last four years, was called as the day's first witness after army prosecutors agreed to stipulate that if Erwin Bergdoll, the draft dodger's brother, were called he would corroborate the story of Grover's secret residence.

Alfred could not remember when he first saw his father in the Philadelphia house, but knew it "was a long time ago."

A fifth-grade pupil, he said he remembered his father lived with them in Philadelphia while he was in the second and third grades and part of the time when he was in fourth grade.

This would have been on Bergdoll's second visit, from October, 1933, to October, 1938. His first visit lasted from June, 1929, to May, 1933.

Senate Group Approves Bill On Neutrality

Foreign Relations Com- mittee Acts After 3-Hour Session

DEBATE NEXT WEEK

Roosevelt Measure Sched- uled to Go to Sen- ate Floor Monday

Washington.—(P)—The senate foreign relations committee approved the administration's neutrality bill to repeal the arms embargo 16 to 7 today after writing into it new restrictions on extension of short term credit to nations at war.

The measure, which President Roosevelt said would provide a greater guarantee of American peace than the present law with its ban on arms sales, would prohibit all United States commerce with belligerents except that which the belligerents themselves carried on in their own ships and without the aid of long-term credits here.

Principal changes made in the measure before the committee approved it had to do with the credit provisions and those sections which affect operations of United States airlines in the western hemisphere.

Senate debate on the measure is scheduled to start Monday.

Senate Majority Leader Barkley of Kentucky said the committee had agreed to an amendment to permit American planes to land and refuel at their bases in the western hemisphere, even if the bases were situated on belligerent territory.

Committee members recorded as voting against approving the bill were Senators Clark (D-Mo.), Shipstead (D-Minn.), La Follette (D-Wis.) and four Republicans, Johnson of California, Vandenberg of Michigan, Capper of Kansas, and Borah.

3-Hour Session
Senators White (R-Maine) Gillette (D-Iowa) and Reynolds (D-N.C.) were said to have voted for approval in order to get the measure to the floor. They reserved the right to oppose it later.

The bill was approved after a three-hour session. It would repeal the existing embargo on arms to belligerent countries.

Belligerents would be required to take title to all armaments and other goods purchased in this country before they were shipped, however, and would have to carry the purchase home in their own vessels.

Sponsors of the measure claim these provisions would serve to put all sales to warring countries on a virtual "cash and carry" basis.

The committee's final action on the measure came after development of a controversy which threatened for a time to delay approval until tomorrow.

Senator Borah, told reporters that "we are trying to put the bill in proper form."

Senator Capper (R-Kans.) said that among the matters under discussion was the provision banning "I sympathize with the fate of the Slovaks, Magyars, Poles and Ukrainians."

Three Persons Killed In Auto-Truck Crash;

Two Others Injured

Marshall, Ill.—(P)—Three persons were killed and two others seriously injured today in a collision between an automobile and a truck near here.

The dead were Robert Herschel McGuire, 23, of Lorton, Texas, driver of the truck; Melton Foster, 20, whose address was unknown, and an unidentified youth who was riding with him in the car.

Loine C. Hendrich, 20, of Kitchener, Ontario, Canada, and Lorne Sparks, 19, of London, Ontario, were taken unconscious to a hospital at Paris, Ill. Both were passengers in the automobile. Sparks was suffering from burns.

Police said they believed the youths were en route to the Central Bible Institute at Springfield, Mo.

Burglars Take Safe Containing $2,500

Shavano.—(P)—Sheriff Carl Drucker said today burglars carted away a 375-pound safe, containing $2,500 cash and some valuable papers, from the home of John Fischer, Gresham, while Fischer was attending a show in that village last night.

Ukraine 'Fuehrer' Reported Planned With U. S. Funds

Dies Proposes to Have Nation 'Outlaw' Com- munist Party

Washington.—(P)—The Dies committee was told today that an organization with headquarters in Vienna and Berlin collected funds from Ukrainians in the United States toward establishment of a "fuehrer-ship" in the Ukraine.

Emil Revyuk of Jersey City, assistant editor of the Ukrainian Daily Svoboda, testified that Ukrainians had contributed through him for years to the "O.U.N." and its leadership, the Provi, which sent out appeals from the two cities.

"O.U.N." the witness said, stood for "organization of Ukrainian Nationalists" and was the international group with which the "O.D.W.U." an American organization, was affiliated.

Prof. Alexander Granovsky of the University of Minnesota, he continued, was president of "O.D.W.U." and the secretary was a man named Rimsky.

Says He Sent $20,000
Revyuk identified himself as president of the United Ukrainians Organizations in the United States. He transmitted $20,000 last year to David, London and Amsterdam, he said.

Committee counsel introduced state department correspondence showing Granovsky had advised the department that O.D.W.U. was receiving no funds from abroad and was not under foreign direction.

The department ruled informally that, in view of that statement, it was unnecessary for the professor to register as the agent of a foreign principal.

Under questioning by J. B. Matthews, attorney for the committee investigating "un-American activities," the witness said that Ukrainian newspapers in the United States received regular press releases from the Ukrainian press service in Berlin. A headline on one paper displayed quoted Adolf Hitler as saying: "I sympathize with the fate of the Slovaks, Magyars, Poles and Ukrainians."

Representative Dies (D-Texas) proposed today that the United States "outlaw" the Communist party.

"If all other methods fail, we might do like France did—just dissolve the party," Dies said. He declined to say how it might be accomplished.

The Texan said the committee probably would ask congress "or the national administration" in its report next January to proceed with all haste against the party.

15 Die in Munitions Explosion in Britain

London.—(P)—The ministry of supply announced that 15 persons were killed today by an explosion in a munitions factory somewhere in the north of Britain.

The location of the factory was not disclosed beyond the fact that it was in the north. Four other persons were injured.

A communique issued by the ministry of information said:

"The ministry of supply regrets to announce that at one of the northern explosive factories an explosion took place this afternoon involving the loss as far as can be ascertained of 15 lives.

"Four persons were also injured. The material damage will not seriously interfere with production."

CARS SMASHED

Theodore F. Drolshagen, Only Survivor, in Crit- ical Condition

Menasha.—Three Twin City men were killed and a fourth was critically injured in an automobile accident south of the state hospital at Winnebago on County Trunk A about 11:25 Wednesday night.

The dead:

John David Clark, 23, 711 Keyes street, Menasha.

Julius Schierl, 33, 341 Cleveland street, Menasha.

Ewald Anderson, 28, 424 Eighth street, Neenah.

Theodore F. Drolshagen, 51, 211 Cleveland street, Menasha, is in critical condition at Mercy hospital at Oshkosh. He suffered fractures of both legs and severe chest injuries.

Lewis S. Magnusen, district attorney, and Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago county coroner, drew a jury this morning to view the scene and the bodies. The jury adjourned until such time as Drolshagen can be questioned. Members of the jury are H. L. McCue, George Greeley, Walter Koel, Paul T. Lee, Abe Levinson and Ray Spellman, Oshkosh.

According to Winnebago county traffic officers, Drolshagen's remembrance nothing regarding the accident.

Details Uncertain
Details of the accident are not clear, according to the traffic officers. When the wreckage was cleared one car was damaged on the front and the other on the side. Both were practically demolished. Clark apparently was killed instantly in the accident and was taken to the morgue immediately. Schierl was dead when brought to Mercy hospital at Oshkosh, and Anderson died shortly afterward.

Police believe both cars were going in the same direction at the time of the crash. Anderson was the owner of the car in which he and Clark were killed.

Drolshagen and Schierl were returning from a meeting of the For Valley Transportation club which met at the Ahearn hotel, Oshkosh, Wednesday night. Drolshagen, who was retiring as president of the organization after the meeting last night, had presided at the meeting. Clark and Anderson were in the other car involved in the accident.

Julius Schierl, 32, was born in Menasha. He was a graduate of St. Mary's High school and was employed at the Marathon Products company. He was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Mary parish, of the Elks lodge and of the Knights of Columbus.

Leaves Two Sons
Survivors of the widow, two sons, Paul, 4 years old, and John, 6 years old; four brothers, Joe, Howard and Roman Schierl of Menasha and John Schierl of Milwaukee; two sisters, Mrs. Leonard Hedberg of Neenah and Mrs. Harold Steele of Flint, Mich., and his father, Philip Schierl, Menasha.

The body is at Laemmrich Funeral home.

John David Clark, 23, was born in Menasha, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Clark, 111 Keyes street. He was a graduate of Menasha High school and was employed at the Northwestern Electro-type company.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, are six sisters, Mrs. Ed Kline, Milwaukee; Mrs. Ralph Radloff, Appleton; Mrs. Henry Ingfer, Neenah; Mrs. Harriet Konitzer, Menasha; and Mrs. Sue and Miss Patricia Clark, Menasha, and six brothers, Peter, Frank, Barney, Emil, George and Ralph, all of Menasha. The body is at Laemmrich Funeral home.

Engraving Firm Employee
Ewald Anderson, 28, 424 Eighth street, Neenah, was born in South Bend, Ind. He had been a resident of Neenah for the last two and a half years and was employed at the Northwestern Engraving company.

Survivors are the widow, Joe, children, Sandra Lee, 4 months old, and Marlene, 3 years old; three sisters, Miss Hilma Anderson, Mrs. Curtis Smith and Mrs. Ray Horn, all of South Bend, Ind.; two brothers, Edwin and Harold Anderson of South Bend, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Anderson, also of South Bend. The body will be at Heuer Funeral home this evening and will be removed to South Bend tomorrow.

Funeral services for John David Clark will be held at 8:30 Saturday morning at the Laemmrich Funeral home and at 9 o'clock a solemn high mass will be said at St. Patrick's Catholic church with the Rev. Joseph Ahearn in charge. Burial will be in St. Margaret cemetery, Neenah.

Service for Julius Schierl will be held at 9:45 Saturday morning at the Laemmrich Funeral home and at 10:15 at St. Mary's Catholic church. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Hummel will conduct the services. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

The bodies of both men will be at the Laemmrich Funeral home from 7:30 tonight to the hour of the funeral.

William Horlick Trust Fund Shows Increase

Racine.—(P)—Although more than $1,000,000 has been paid to beneficiaries of a trust fund set up by the late William Horlick, founder of the malted milk fortune, the fund has increased by $134,217 in seven years, records on file in circuit court showed today.

The accounting of the fund, filed as part of a court action brought by Horlick's sons, A. J. and William, Jr., disclosed that the original value was $3,921,395 when it was established June 2, 1932, and the value as of July 31, 1939, was $4,055,610.

The Horlicks have asked the court to make them sole trustees of the fund, which they administered with their joint beneficiary, their sister, Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, until her death. They also ask instructions regarding accrued income payable but not paid to Mrs. Sidley before she died.

The case is set for Oct. 24.

Age Pension Lien Bill Is Passed by Assembly

Madison.—(P)—The assembly passed today and sent to the senate a bill by Leo T. Niemuth (R-Oshkosh), to modify the old age pension lien law and exempt homesteads valued at $3,500 or less.

Existing law permits counties to take a lien on the home of any old age pensioner for the amount of pension received. The Niemuth bill would permit liens only on homesteads worth more than $3,500 and would apply to all liens now in effect.

The house passed the bill 74 to 11. An effort by Reuben Peterson (R-Berlin), to obtain reconsideration prevented the measure going to the senate.

Germany Reports British Cruiser Bombed From Air

British Admiralty Spokesman Characterizes Claim as "Poppycock"

Berlin.—(AP)—German radio stations today broadcast a hint that Britain's newest aircraft carrier, the Ark Royal, was the vessel which the German high command asserted was "destroyed" by Nazi aircraft Tuesday in a raid on British naval units in the North Sea.

The German claim of having scored direct hits on British vessels was flatly denied by the British admiralty.

"An airplane carrier of the most modern construction sustained a square hit of the heaviest caliber" in Tuesday's raid, the broadcasts declared.

A tremendous explosion was the result, where is the Ark Royal?

(The 22,000-ton Ark Royal, which carries a normal complement of 60 planes, was completed Nov. 16, 1938, at a cost of about $12,000,000.)

No Indemnity Paid On Registered Mail To Foreign Nations

Indemnity no longer will be paid for the loss of registered articles in the postal union mails addressed to foreign countries when the loss is due to "causes beyond control," Stephen Balliet, postmaster, has been informed by the second assistant postmaster general. With respect to parcel post packages, no indemnity will be paid for losses due to such causes.

As a rule, it is considered that the loss of mail resulting from acts of war, including seizure of cargo as contraband, constitutes a case of force majeure, causes beyond control, the notice received by Balliet said.

Heil Insists on Support for His Gross Revenue Tax

last, attempt to raise taxes for the state's extraordinarily high biennial budget.

In a tentative vote at the caucus, the administration was assured of a minimum of 18 senate votes for the new revenue bill, more than enough for passage.

Assemblyman Mark Catlin, Appleton, one of the majority leaders in the lower house, said that he had no doubt of success for the $12,000,000 bill in the assembly.

Strategy agreed upon calls for swift action, with final passage to be attempted today.

There was some criticism, which was quickly silenced, according to administration reports. Senator Peters of Hartland accused the administration of sponsoring a "camouflaged sales tax," and pleaded for general reduction of the state budget, including some state aids to localities.

Apparently, however, Heil and the legislative Republican majority consider new taxes less dangerous politically than a reduction in state aids to local governments which require real estate taxes.

The governor also asked for revision of the civil service laws to allow him greater powers in firing state employees, and urged strongly that a law be enacted at this session to allow municipalities to offer substantial concessions to new industry in the form of low taxes for a period of ten years.

Developments last night appeared to end the possibility of adjournment of the session this week, and possibly for several weeks.

Calls In Press

The governor yesterday afternoon told the press that the legislature will not adjourn until it makes available enough money to balance the budget, and that he "hoped that will be within a few hours."

Governor Heil indicated after a long conference with Coalition members of the state senate that he is confident of legislative approval of a brand new revenue plan, the details of which he insisted on keeping a secret temporarily.

From other sources, however, came authoritative information that the newest suggestion from the Heil retinue is a one fourth of one per cent gross income tax which will tax the gross receipts of practically every laborer, business and professional man in Wisconsin and all manufacturers and will raise $1,000,000 for the two years.

The plan as originally proposed to the senate contemplated a gross income tax with graduated rates from one quarter to one half of one per cent. The original schedules prepared by Heil's advisors estimated an annual yield of more than $8,000,000. Discussions, and coolness from some of the legislators toward the relatively heavy levy, however, resulted in a tentative agreement today that Germany's war would end tomorrow with the formal surrender of Warsaw by her 100,000 defenders.

But Germany further strengthened her western defenses and informed sources said if Great Britain still wanted to fight it was up to her.

Camouflage Important Factor For Reich Western Defenses

BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER
With the German Army on the Western Front.—(AP)—Camouflaging has become a fine art in the Saar sector of Germany's powerful westwall.

You approach a bridge, for instance, and see a gasoline filling station with all normal equipment just before you.

But before you go onto the bridge you see it isn't a filling station at all. If you look closely enough, you see machine-guns pointing ominously at you from behind a facade that hides a pill box.

You see a group of trim little houses built in native Saarland style near an industrial plant.

You take it for granted they are intended for company employees.

ment to cut the rate to a straight one fourth of one per cent.

There would be an exemption of $1,000 of gross income for all classes of taxpayers except retail merchants. The retail dealer would enjoy an exemption of $2,000.

The tax would be all-inclusive, covering the receipts of the operations of jobbers, retailers, manufacturers, wholesalers, professional men, the service trades, landlords, individual wage-earners, utilities, and all others.

One Exemption

The exemption would be allowed only once, so that if any person receives income from more than one source as classified in the proposed law, he would be allowed to deduct for only one class.

It was shown that Wisconsin retail business annually amounts to about $790,000,000 that jobbers and wholesalers' sales amount to almost that much, while all others, including wages and salaries, amount to more than $589,000,000 annually in the state.

Under the proposed tax plan the laborer earning $1,200 a year would have an exemption of $1,000, so that his tax would be less than $1. The office worker with a $2,400 salary would pay about $3.50, the retail merchant doing a business of $20,000 yearly, about $45.00, the wholesaler with a $60,000 volume, $147.00, the doctor with $15,000 in collections, $35, and the manufacturer of a year $124.7.

All interstate business receipts would be exempt, it was pointed out, because of the provisions of the federal constitution.

Although the plan is expected to produce $12,000,000 annually, observers were quick to note that it would be expensive to administer. Moreover, even assuming passage for the proposal, the budget will still be from $7,000,000 to $9,000,000 out of balance.

The office worker with a $2,400 salary would pay about $3.50, the retail merchant doing a business of $20,000 yearly, about $45.00, the wholesaler with a $60,000 volume, $147.00, the doctor with $15,000 in collections, $35, and the manufacturer of a year $124.7.

All interstate business receipts would be exempt, it was pointed out, because of the provisions of the federal constitution.

Although the plan is expected to produce $12,000,000 annually, observers were quick to note that it would be expensive to administer. Moreover, even assuming passage for the proposal, the budget will still be from $7,000,000 to $9,000,000 out of balance.

Britain Expects Hitler Move to Bring War to End per cent to assist huge borrowing—loans of nearly $1,000,000,000 (approximately $4,000,000,000) were in prospect—to finance the war this year.

The indicated minimum budget requirement of $2,000,000,000 will be met roughly half by borrowing and half by taxation.

Some observers declared Hitler's immediate goal was to have Britain and France recognize a "fait accompli" in Poland and conclude hostilities in the west with a promise of colonial concessions to Germany.

Failing this, Hitler would launch fierce aerial warfare against the British and French, with the aim of destroying civilian morale, these observers predicted.

Alert against this possibility, the government warned that the 1,500,000 women and children now distributed through the English countryside should not return to homes in congested cities.

United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy again advised Americans in Britain to go home. It was estimated there still were some 4,000 of them in the United Kingdom and of this number 2,500 were said to have no urgent reasons for staying.

Roosevelt Designates Fire Prevention Week

Washington.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today set aside the week beginning Oct. 8 as fire prevention week.

His proclamation reported that fires in this country did an estimated damage of $254,000,000 in 1937 and more than $265,000,000 last year.

Public authorities, civic groups, educators, and others were requested to "cooperate in bringing to the attention of all the people the importance of taking measures to eliminate fire hazards, to abolish dangerous practices and procedures which may lead to the occurrence of needless fires, and to maintain a special alertness in every situation in which a destructive fire may occur."

Polish Flier Says Warsaw Is in Ruins

ple and children never leave their cellar refuges."

Colonel Izycki said Warsaw's defenders could rest "when the Germans took time out for lunch" but otherwise the bombardment was "steady and methodical, striking every section of the city."

"I had room in the Bristol hotel," he related. "One day I went there to find my room had disappeared in a mass of ruins."

"All hospitals have been hit or destroyed and practically all medical aid is administered on the spot. In many instances there was nothing to do but watch those who were seriously wounded."

"At times the wounded had to be thrown from burning houses to the street below, even though they suffered additional broken bones."

Colonel Izycki said the Poles found pamphlets on some captured Germans "promising them that by Christmas Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels would speak to them from London."

He said he and six other Polish aviators made a dash from Warsaw to save the last seven planes left in the city. He told of watching the others roar out from hiding places between houses near the airfield and climb into the air.

That was the last he saw of his comrades.

While Polish soldiers attacked the Germans to distract their attention, Colonel Izycki said, he took off in an instruction plane which had been reassembled under a constant threat from German machine-guns.

"Tracer bullets whined all around me," he said. "I went to 9,000 feet with my machine-guns ready and only gasoline for an hour and a half of flying."

"I glided long distances to save fuel. I had no maps and only knew that I was in Hungary when I came down low and saw the peasant costumes."

Name Kaukauna Man to Rail Post

J. C. Byrne Named District Superintendent of Car Maintenance

J. C. Byrne, for many years master car builder of the Chicago and North Western Ashland division shop in Kaukauna, will manage his headquarters to Green Bay, and will assume the title of district superintendent of car maintenance for the Lake Shore, Ashland, Peninsula, Madison and Dakota divisions, under a change in organization announced today which will become effective Oct. 1.

He will have charge of maintenance of all North Western cars from Lake Michigan to the Black Hills and from the Illinois border to Lake Superior.

Under the same change, W. W. Hoffman, master mechanic at Green Bay, will have charge of motor power on the Ashland and Peninsula divisions as well as the Lake Shore division. Mr. Hoffman will have jurisdiction over nearly 2,000 miles of main line and Mr. Byrne over nearly twice that mileage.

The consolidation of car supervision only, it is pointed out, is not expected to alter greatly, if at all, the amount of work at the various shops or the number of men employed there.

Course of European War May Hinge on Moscow Conference

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

New York.—(AP)—The Moscow conference between Russia and Germany, with Turkey sitting in, continues to be the switchboard of the European war.

We shall know how the conflict is heading when the new cartographic firm of Stalin and Hitler cuts us in so we can learn how the mapmaking and political readjustments of the continent are going.

At the moment the proceedings remain as mysterious as a dog barking at a bone, though there are plenty of reports going about.

British Foreign Minister Lord Halifax yesterday called in Soviet Ambassador Maisky and made another effort to solve the riddle of Russia's policy, which may be the key to the outcome of the war.

Neither Halifax nor Maisky has disclosed what passed between them, but it's a fair guess that Maisky trod very closely in the footsteps of his ordinarily uncommunicative chief, Stalin. Diplomatic quarters in London expressed the belief that a definite statement of Soviet policy could not be looked for immediately.

See Military Alliance

The most important development in connection with this hushhush parley is the persistent report that the communists and nazis may enlarge the European alliance by entering a military alliance, which presumably would bring the Soviet into the war on Germany's side.

Soviet Premier Molotov has announced that Russia will remain neutral, and apart from that observers generally believe that an alliance would not suit Stalin's policy—but despite this the report still remains important.

It has kept echoing back and forth between Berlin and Moscow until it is difficult to guess the origin of the shout which produced it. The Soviet government seems to have a German accent. The paper Das Schwarze Korps, organ of Hitler's elite guard, today indicates the possibility of a Russo-German alliance, with Japan joining later.

The point of all this is that there is a wide-spread belief in Europe that Germany is getting ready to make another peace offer, and is holding the threat of a Russo-German alliance over the heads of England and France.

Both London and Paris expect that Hitler will move within a few days to try to persuade them to accept the Polish conquest and dismemberment as an irrevocable act of war in no way remedy the situation.

There is no indication that the Anglo-French allies have receded an inch from their firm declaration that they intend to pursue the war until, as Premier Chamberlain put it, they "crush Hitlerism."

It is doubtful whether the nazis further himself believes there is much chance of persuading the allies to make peace on his terms.

However, observers in Paris incline to the opinion that he may be building up his case so that when the allies refuse his peace offer he will be in the position of claiming that he is justified in making a "complete war" against them.

A "complete war" would, of course, involve the employment of all weapons at the command of Germany. Were it carried out to the extent of its definition of "complete" it would be a very terrible thing. It would produce such horrors as exist in shattered Warsaw, whose streets are strewn with the torn bodies of civilians.

Political 'Truce' May End Before Campaign in '40

Strange Friendships are Formed as Result of Neutrality Issue

Washington — (P) — The "truce" on the neutrality issue between President Roosevelt and many of his Democratic opponents on domestic matters has posed the question:

How long will the armistice last and will it result in the Democrats uniting on a common ground in the 1940 campaign?

Because all factions in both parties have agreed to eliminate politics as far as possible from the neutrality debate, and because so many things can happen on the international and home fronts before the presidential nominating conventions next summer, senators are reluctant to talk publicly about 1940 at this juncture.

Some strange friendships are thrown together in the current arms embargo fight, and only time will tell how long they will last.

With the president for repeal were such Democrats as Senators George of Georgia, whom Mr. Roosevelt tried to defeat last year; Byrd of Virginia, outspoken opponent of New Deal spending policies, and Burke of Nebraska, who has been critical of many New Deal domestic proposals.

Call Truce Temporary
On the other side were several Democrats who have supported the president on many domestic policies, including Senators Overton of Louisiana and Walsh of Massachusetts.

Privately, some of the anti-New Deal Democrats who have lined up for repeal of the arms embargo say the truce is only temporary, that they were still as strongly as ever opposed to much of the president's domestic program and to a third term for the White House incumbent.

On the other hand, administration leaders see in the re-alliance a healthy sign which may bring the party closer together for the next campaign, regardless of whom the candidates may be.

All agree that little can be foretold at this time about the political set-ups for next year. Much, it is argued, hinges on whether the president takes himself out of the race for another term, as some have urged him to do now, and whether he refrains from putting any controversial domestic questions before the regular session of congress in January.

Pressure from many New Dealers that Mr. Roosevelt run again, especially if his foreign policy keeps this country out of Europe's war, was expected to increase, but one senate Democratic opponent of some of his domestic policies said today this would have no influence on the present opposition to a third term.

Intricate Points On Neutrality are Raised by Embargo

One Question Is That of Giving Aid on High Seas, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—Many intricate and delicate questions of American neutrality are already arising which will never be covered by either the existing or the modified statute governing an arms embargo.

One of the example relates to the assistance being rendered to the crews of belligerent vessels by American merchantmen and another concerns the nature of the patrol which the United States would like to establish with respect to the coast of North and South America.

Under the interpretation of "strict neutrality," American naval vessels that happen to be in the vicinity of those French or British freighters which are attacked by German submarines should not go to the rescue, for to do so is in theory not a bit different than would be an American ambulance service established behind the lines of either of the belligerent armies.

There is no legal reason why Americans should not assist in handling the wounded behind the front lines, but nowadays the cry for strict neutrality is such that any American unit sent to assist would doubtless be subject to criticism if it in any way were sponsored by the American government. This would seem to exclude any aid, therefore, from American naval vessels on the high seas, though the other day a United States destroyer, answering a distress call, stood alongside a British cargo ship, and the German submarine did not attack.

Merchantmen

But how about American merchantmen which soon will be forbidden to travel to belligerent ports? Will they, by the same theory, be precluded from having any contact with vessels flying belligerent flags, whether or not for humanitarian reasons? In a sense, when an American merchantman answers an SOS call of a British or French vessel already attacked by a German submarine, the task of the German submarine commander in complying with the new rules governing submarine warfare, namely, that crews must be placed in a position of safety, is made easier through such American assistance. Nobody will question the humanitarian objective of America in rendering this assistance, but nowa-days, with the peculiarly rigid view being taken of neutrality, the part played by American vessels at sea, especially if they respond to an SOS call before a pursuing submarine actually fires its torpedo, may produce complicated questions for the diplomats to argue over.

Perhaps a much more controversial issue will arise over the evident intent of the United States and the other republics of this hemisphere to establish a neutral zone along the coast of both continents. Hitherto a 3-mile limit has been accepted as "territorial waters," and, in some instances by treaty, the United States has succeeded in getting 12 miles as the approved outer limit for purposes of pursuing and searching foreign vessels engaged in smuggling.

To insist on a wide zone of perhaps 100 miles as American territorial waters in time of war is, from the viewpoint of neutral rights, quite consistent with past history. But, on the other hand, belligerents are constantly refusing to accept a neutral nation's concept of neutral rights, the perennial differences of opinion as to where the domain of one encroaches on the other being recorded in such massive works as John Bassett Moore's digests of international law rulings of the last century and a half.

100-Mile Zone

Will Britain and France or Germany agree to respect a zone extending 100 miles out to the ocean? if they do, United States shipping and the vessels of Latin-American countries will be safe to cruise between our ports and those of Central and South America without being halted by submarines or naval craft for search and seizure.

To require British patrolling warships to stay far out to sea might, however, permit, in some cases, German submarines to slip unobserved into the desolated waters of Central and South American countries for the taking on of supplies and fuel. The British, therefore, might object to such extension of territorial waters.

Although it is doubtful whether many German submarines will operate close to the shores of the western hemisphere countries anyway, still German assent is no more likely than British and French agreement. This is because the setting of such a precedent on one side of the Atlantic would naturally commit the belligerents to recognition of some such zone on the coast of other neutral countries on the other side of the ocean.

The Pan American nations will doubtless paint their respective flags prominently on their shipping and proclaim a wide neutral zone, but it will require the effective assertion of these rights, primarily by the United States, in diplomatic channels before such zones become an accepted international custom.

Urge Simple Precautions for Hunters to Curb Annual Toll

Madison—The number of deaths from firearms in hunting has not decreased noticeably in this country since 1908. The state medical society of Wisconsin, in cooperation with the state conservation department, therefore, urges hunters to help reduce this rate by taking precautions before starting on a hunting trip this year.

"Hunters usually are eager to get out-of-doors at their first chance, and do not give sufficient thought to the danger involved in the sport they pursue. Every year warnings are issued, yet every year the death and accident rate remains about the same. It may spoil the hunting for most sportsmen to observe all of these precautions, but it will make the sport much safer and consequently more enjoyable in the end."

Precautionary Measures

"For the benefit of those who will hunt this year for the first time, several important precautionary measures are listed below:

1. Do not carry loaded guns in an automobile or wagon.
2. Do not pull a gun over a fence.
3. Do not allow a loaded gun to be laid in the bottom of a boat.
4. Do not shoot a gun after falling or walking over newly ploughed ground without seeing that the gun is clear.
5. Do not shoot moving objects unless they are identified.
6. Do not shoot game until assured no other living creature is in the line of fire.

"Hunters who are sensitive to cold should wear woolen socks and thick boots or shoes, or chilblains or frozen feet may develop. The body must be protected adequately against freezing weather. If a chill should develop, the victim should go to bed at once. A full glass of a hot liquid each hour, preferably a hot fruit drink, should be taken."

Music Activity Club Has First Meeting of Season at Seymour

Seymour—The Music Activity club held its first meeting of the school year Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium with the president, Mrs. Genevieve Trace, in charge. The program opened with community singing directed by Miss Voets, vocal instructor at the high school. A clarinet and cornet duet was played by Miss Mary Ann Trace and Buddy Trace. Mrs. Bidwell, president of the Band Mothers of Nicolet High school, West DePere, spoke to the club on the work of her organization and responded to questions of the members of the local club. Mrs. Adams and son Arthur of DePere informed the club of the qualifications, general program, and benefits of the Music Clinic held at Madison last summer. During the business meeting of the club it was decided that the Music Activity club would hold regular meetings on the last Tuesday of each month. It was urged that all parents of high school students active in band or chorus work be in attendance at all of these meetings.

The annual chicken supper of the Methodist church will be held Thursday, Oct. 12. Serving will begin at 5:30 p. m.

WHEN THE THIEF CRIES: "STOP THIEF"

The Italian press is bitterly attacking the proposal to repeal the arms embargo at Washington.

It calls the effort immoral, unneutral and says it is likely to prolong the war. It is particularly severe upon Mr. Roosevelt when it charges him with attempting to "serve the interests of the cannon merchants."

When nations that have been buying more cannon than nations ever bought before suddenly become solicitous of the danger to the world if more cannon are manufactured, a criticism has been voiced not unlike that recently cabled from the Magazine of the Goddess in Russia. The editor of the Goddess has been almost sweating blood because, he says, the Polish people were unjust to congregations of the Greek Orthodox church in Poland in that they preferred the Roman Catholic. The magazine that has devoted its time to destroying the Greek Orthodox Church in Russia got a catnip fit at the plight of the Greek Orthodox Church in Poland.

Our conclusion from observing critics of this sort is that they consider the ordinary run of people as unadorned donkeys. So long as that idea prevails among them there is little wonder they have no respect for democracy.

WISCONSIN AS A SUMMER RESORT

From data gathered by the Post-Crescent the resort country of Wisconsin had an excellent summer.

More people came than ever before. The hotels were filled. The advantages, as usual, flowed over the adjacent countryside, aiding and enlivening numerous other businesses as well.

Here is an important and eminently satisfactory income for the state that has been engineered to its present condition by rosy, natural advantages, aided, abetted and made highly productive by numerous hotel and resort owners.

The hotel and resort owners on the other hand are a modest band who have asked little or nothing from the public but sometimes have actually been obstructed in their effort to make pleasant and enjoyable the weeks spent here by hundreds of thousands of visitors.

It is about time that Wisconsin became more conscious of the great value to it of this steady influx of people through the summer.

The climate and scenery are ordained for us by heaven. The lakes, bays, and brooks, the rolling countryside and green forests are the presents of nature. The bonhomie, general good nature and sustained civility of the people of the state are assuredly helpful factors. Every year the concourse to Wisconsin is likely to increase. A yearning develops in the hearts of men throughout the hibernation of a long winter to return to the spot where the soul and spirit were given as full opportunity at relaxation as the muscles of the body.

But it would be an unusual indictment of our foresight and intelligence if with all these splendid advantages we neglect to keep in mind this extensive hotel and resort industry of ours when we shape state policies that, carelessly formed or projected, may be of lasting harm.

CLEARING AWAY THE BARNACLES

Congressman Dies, who has gained a considerable reputation for accuracy and dependability of statement through fire and vindication, says that there are nearly 3,000 avowed Reds occupying key positions in the present administration at Washington.

By key positions he must mean positions of such authority that they involve the use of judgment and discretion in the shaping of policies or in the making of rulings affecting the farmers, the workers, and the business and commercial houses of America.

Mr. Dies is only aiming at the leaders. Probably he finds no time for the riffraff.

But if we have nearly 3,000 Reds in key positions how many thousands have been appointed by these key position men to other jobs and how many other thousands have been placed through their influence?

No wonder Pinko Ickes deliberately misrepresented Mr. Dies and his sincere efforts to get at the truth. No wonder Madame Perkins donned her red skirt, an old-fashioned undershirt at that, when she came forth to uphold the slimy hands of Moscow by deriding this honest effort to discover how far the worms had eaten into the timbers.

No wonder we have had 12 million unemployed, achieved a debt of 45 billions and joggled along like a springless wagon on a corduroy road, when our policies have been affected to the extent that nearly 3,000 key men in the government who hate democracy could affect them.

But, says Mr. Dies, various departments are going to discharge these enemies of America from the public payroll. Yet they will do so quietly and secretly lest public opinion become aroused were the job completed at once.

By all means, do it secretly. Hide the administration's shame as much as possible.

In the meantime the President is doing his best to get away from the mess he has made by pointing a crusader's finger to that other one over in Europe.

MORE HATRED IS NEEDED

The German government is making it pretty tough for the French and English by distributing orders to all commands to "fight chivalrously, treat prisoners humanely, respect the Red Cross," and "spare the civil population unnecessary hardships."

A nation finds it extremely difficult to fight energetically and at its top capacity unless it can point with some fair degree of accuracy to acts of the enemy that are abominable.

The crew of a British freighter sunk by a U-boat reported that the commander of the latter took the officers of the former aboard his craft, gave them drinks, expressed his regret at the necessities of war, and told them to stay in their life boats just where he was leaving them because a Dutch liner would be along in a few hours, advice that was accurate.

Conditions for prolonged warfare were much better 25 years ago. Many U-boat commanders were civil and courteous but many were not. In most instances they abandoned crews to their fate, not even taking the slight trouble of giving them compass points or advising them of the proximity of other liners.

War can hardly prosper upon such food. It needs highly inflammable elements, oils that when they touch smoldering sparks flare up with great bursts of flame. But since there has always been a bloc in the German army that has advocated harsh measures for their alleged effect in breaking enemy resistance the length of time the command will persist upon the prevailing attitude must remain a matter of speculation.

THE LINE OF SUCCESSION IN THE REICH

According to Herr Hitler one who occupies such a high position in a nation as he has in the Reich is permitted to bequeath to others rights and privileges men have rarely assumed to exercise before.

Thus the Fuehrer has decreed that in case of his death, "my successor will be Party Chief Goering." But the dictator did not stop there. He decreed further that if "something should happen to Goering" his successor will be Hess.

Goering thus does not succeed to all the rights of the Fuehrer for he is deprived of the important privilege of naming his successor. Neither does Hess grow to the stature of Hitler for he does not inherit the right to name the one who shall come after him. For "if something should happen" to Hess, Hitler told the Reichstag, "I will have the senate called, which will choose the worthiest," and although details concerning the creation of the senate are far from clear we draw the conclusion that Herr Hitler will name the members of that august body.

This is the most prodigious dictatorship that was ever created. By its asserted authority Hitler may rule through his appointees for several generations after his death since, theoretically, his power will persist as long as lives the senate members whom he appoints.

All of this is interesting but most of it is a matter at which the gods laugh. For there have been Hitlers before who produced grandiose schemes, and they were no sooner in their graves than the schemes were scattered to the four winds by elements sudden, unforeseen but irresistible. Men have not been very successful in running nations from the tomb. In fact their ideas have carried on much better when they modestly decline to direct succeeding generations to support them.

If Goering does succeed Hitler he will want to have something to say about who comes after him. He will not care to assume an inferior position of authority to his predecessor. And pounding at his temples will be the persistent question—Why should I not reorganize the senate? If he does who will there be to deny him?

Perhaps there is a grain of necessity in Hitler's imperious attitude toward those who shall succeed him. Possibly the German people will feel more assured to know the successors since life sometimes fades as quickly as a delicate flower. Perhaps too there is a great advantage by way of the banishment of strife and discord among the many ambitious men in the ranks who will, however, accept the order of the Fuehrer because personally devoted to him.

But when the gods are about to laugh they seldom give advance notice by even the twitching of a muscle. A few years hence, perhaps five or ten, or maybe only two, pensive retrospection may gloomily reveal the wide gap between what a Fuehrer may order and what events may ordain.

The Herring Gull serves a useful purpose as the garbage man of the Great Lakes.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York—The war is no concern of ours. Frightened housewives scamper hysterically to the grocer's at the first distant cannon rumble and buy sugar to pack away on their shelves. Hoarders! The price of wheat and corn rockets. The Greedy grin, and rub their hands together in anticipation of gold panned from blood.

The war is no concern of —

Wall Street, apathetic almost for a decade, comes alive. A new litter of War Babies is born. The blood that gives them life is the blood of Europe's Dying — a 3,000 mile transfusion by Dr. War. Employment spurts. Jobs are created in heavy industries, in distribution, in positions emptied as Europe recalls its American-sojourning nationals to its colors.

The war is no —

The Hudson River piers, where dock great liners, have sinister gaps. The sea is no longer safe. That famous 3,000 miles of water which is America's Maginot Line is no longer safe. The cruise season reaches its height, but reservations are cancelled. Maybe there are submarines off Cuba, off the Azores, off South America, off North America! Torpedoes that slither through America's Maginot Line... Survivors handed down gangways on stretchers...

The war is —

Politicians cry for a moratorium on politics. This is no time for partisanship, they say. In other words, status quo. In other words, don't dare carry on, America, in your normal, democratic way.

The war is —

Glib apologists and self-made experts harangue with type and tongue. It is not a war against the German people, it is a war against Hitler! That's what they say. As if the million men who pull triggers beyond the Rhine are all one man — Hitler! As if the starve-em-out blockade were aimed only at making Hitler hungry! As if Hitler or any man could send seventy million men and women into war if that seventy million men and women refused to go!

The war is no concern of ours?

What nonsense war inspires in a people — even in a people crouched behind a Maginot Line of 3,000 miles of water — the nonsense that argues wars must be fought to "end all war," to "preserve democracy," to "destroy intolerance," to "right injustice," to provide "living space," to "get rid of Hitler."

The war is no concern of ours?

U. S. reservists called out, battleship production speeded, emergency proclamations to regulate (if we can) profiteering; prayers for peace (why should we pray for European peace if the war is no concern of ours?); ocean liners lying in docks, with men on scaffolds splashing them with dull gray paint, or painting huge American flags upon their sides; sailors of U. S. merchant ships growling because of the danger they know the sea now holds; secret agents doggedly searching for spies —

The war is no concern of ours?

There is a disturbed expression on the face of the American father and alarm in the eyes of the American mother — parents of healthy, college-aged lads. There is a sombre note now in all those stories that told about his experiences in France — Mademoiselle from Armentieres, parlez-vous, the cooties that became funny in retrospect, the Anzac who could play the harmonica while standing on his head, the time a shell fragment killed the fellow next to him, Elsie Janis and the shows in the "Y," that cute little Irish nurse, the tough, foul-mouthed sergeant from the Bronx — God rest his soul.

War profits, war babies, war profiteering, war hoarding, war hysteria, war worries, war politics — War humming in the head like a mad mosquito.

No concern of ours... of course not... minding our own business... not involved in Europe's affairs... 3,000 miles of ocean... learned our lesson in '17... No concern of ours —

Looking Backward

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Oct. 1, 1914

Harold S. Spencer, son of A. M. Spencer of Appleton, representing the Prince of Wied of Albania, had just returned to this country and in an interview in a Boston paper made some interesting statements relating to George Fred Williams who was recently dropped from the diplomatic service by the Wilson administration. Mr. Spencer was chief of staff of the Albanian army and right hand man of the king.

The loving cup offered as a trophy in the high school "Home Beautiful" campaign was awarded to Elmer Root, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Root, 733 Harris street. Honorable mention went to Maxine Hiltner, 608 N. Division street; Earl Kromer, 795 Jefferson street; Lavergne Hanchett, 486 Minor street; Marie Keller, 932 Eighth street and Lydia Sauer, 674 Oneida street.

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Sept. 26, 1929

Three members of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National guard, were examined for commissions as second lieutenants in the officers reserve corps Wednesday evening. They were Sergeants Orville Muenster, Raymond P. Dohr and Corporal Gordon R. McIntyre.

William Smith, secretary of the Appleton Barbers union, had returned from Indianapolis where he attended the annual convention of the National Barbers association.

Dr. and Mrs. John W. Wilson were to attend the annual state conference of the Congregational church at Superior the following week.

Dr. Melvin Borchardt was reelected commander of the Norris Spencer post of the American Legion at New London. Other officers elected were Frank Meyers, first vice commander; Chancey F. Kellogg, second vice commander; Raymond Prahl, adjutant and finance officer; Ohren Huntley, chaplain; Leonard Borchardt and John Baker, sergeant-at-arms; Fred S. Loss, historian; R. B. Egan, service officer; Albert Miller, athletic officer.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

A BETTER WORLD

I shall build a better world Than I have ever known, Where no bombshell can be hurled, Or hated banner flown.

I shall make the portal fast Against hate and war, Knowing only love will last When love has entered here.

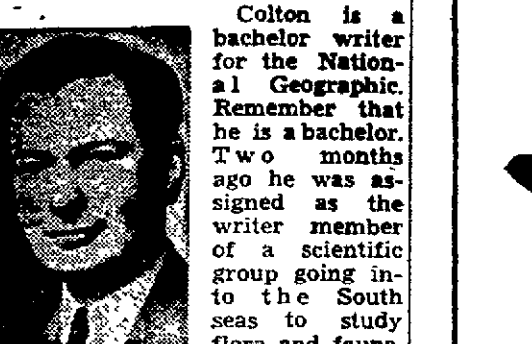

Heaven will provide my roof, The moon my evening light, Quiet joy will be the proof My world is fashioned right.

I shall find a better way To build than those rash fools Who spoil the contour of God's day With hate's destroying tools.

The Sanderling is occasionally seen in Wisconsin and is known as the "globe-trotter" of the bird world because it is found at all ends of the earth.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER
Washington—One tragedy of the war was visited upon a young fellow named Colton.

Colton is a bachelor writer for the National Geographic. Remember that he is a bachelor. Two months ago he was assigned as the writer member of a scientific group going into the South seas to study flora and fauna.

Of all places in the world, their center of operation was to be Bali.

The expedition was fully organized. A U. S. coast guard cutter had been assigned from the Pacific side to take the party out and attend to its wants.

Then came the war. Just two days before Colton and the party were to leave Washington, the coast guard cutter was ordered to the Atlantic to prevent German submarines from annoying flora and fauna along our east coast. The expedition folded at once. Colton will remain in Washington.

War Note
Applications for commissions in the army and navy officers' reserve corps have increased steadily. The navy would like to get a bigger reserve of naval architects but instead gets a flock of applications from lawyers wanting to join the non-combatant Judge Advocate General's division.

Peace Note: The only gas mask in the state department has been removed. It was part of a war department exhibit and went down to the Munitions building on the banks of the Potomac when the war department had to clear out to make way for the President's executive staff. Our observations indicate not a gas mask can be bought here.

Travelers returning to this country on the Empress of Britain were kept in complete ignorance of the sinking of the Athenia—which occurred when the Empress was not far from that vicinity. Not until the boat was safe in the protected waters of the St. Lawrence did they hear about it.

The Empress, a very fast boat, ran away from every craft that appeared on the horizon. It took no chances on a mistake in identification, but turned hard on its beam to get out of sight.

It develops, also that zig-zagging on a fast passenger liner is less than fun. An unsteady stomach has no place on a belligerent liner in a war zone. Racing through the waves at breakneck speed the boat zigs right and zags left in unending succession. The wake of white-churned water behind the boat looks like the path of a drunken earthworm. No zig is like the next zag. Regular zig-zags would be easy for a submarine to calculate. So the liner zigs perhaps 200 yards, and then zags 350 yards, then zigs again. It stays far over on its side at each turn.

The Empress zig-zagged clear across the Atlantic until a merciful fog settled down upon it when it was a day out from Halifax. Then it straightened out, and contrary to peace time precautions, raced to port full speed through the fog.

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Von Ribbentrop is in Moscow for his semi-weekly dabble with the Russians, and everybody is wondering who is going to get knifed in the back this time. Of course, the conference may not be as serious as feared. It's just possible all Ribbentrop is trying to do is to get Stalin to give back the copy of "Mein Kampf" for an autographed copy of Hitler's less embarrassing book, "Any Old Pot in a Storm."

You must have noticed that the Germans always go to Moscow. The Russians never come to Berlin. This may mean that Hitler ain't been admitted to membership in the communist party as a full comrade yet.

If Ribbentrop is smart, he will see that some agreement is reached where Stalin agrees to take 50 percent of the headaches that will follow their activities. Even if they should lick all Europe, their real battle would begin at that point.

After they've won the war through mutual hatred of everybody else, they'd be face to face with the awful humiliation of having to like each other and get along together.

I see where Washington is talking of firing all communists on government jobs. That seems fair enough. It's all right to have revolutionists around, but why pay 'em to give us the works?

Venerable Parrot Who Liked Cleveland Dies

Lewes, Del. — Birdy, a Democratic parrot who has rooted for President Grover Cleveland for the past 55 years, is dead.

Birdy was born about the time of Cleveland's first term of office in 1884 and acquired an extensive vocabulary from the political jargon of the times. Although he was a Democrat, the bird was a one-man parrot, for he praised only President Cleveland.

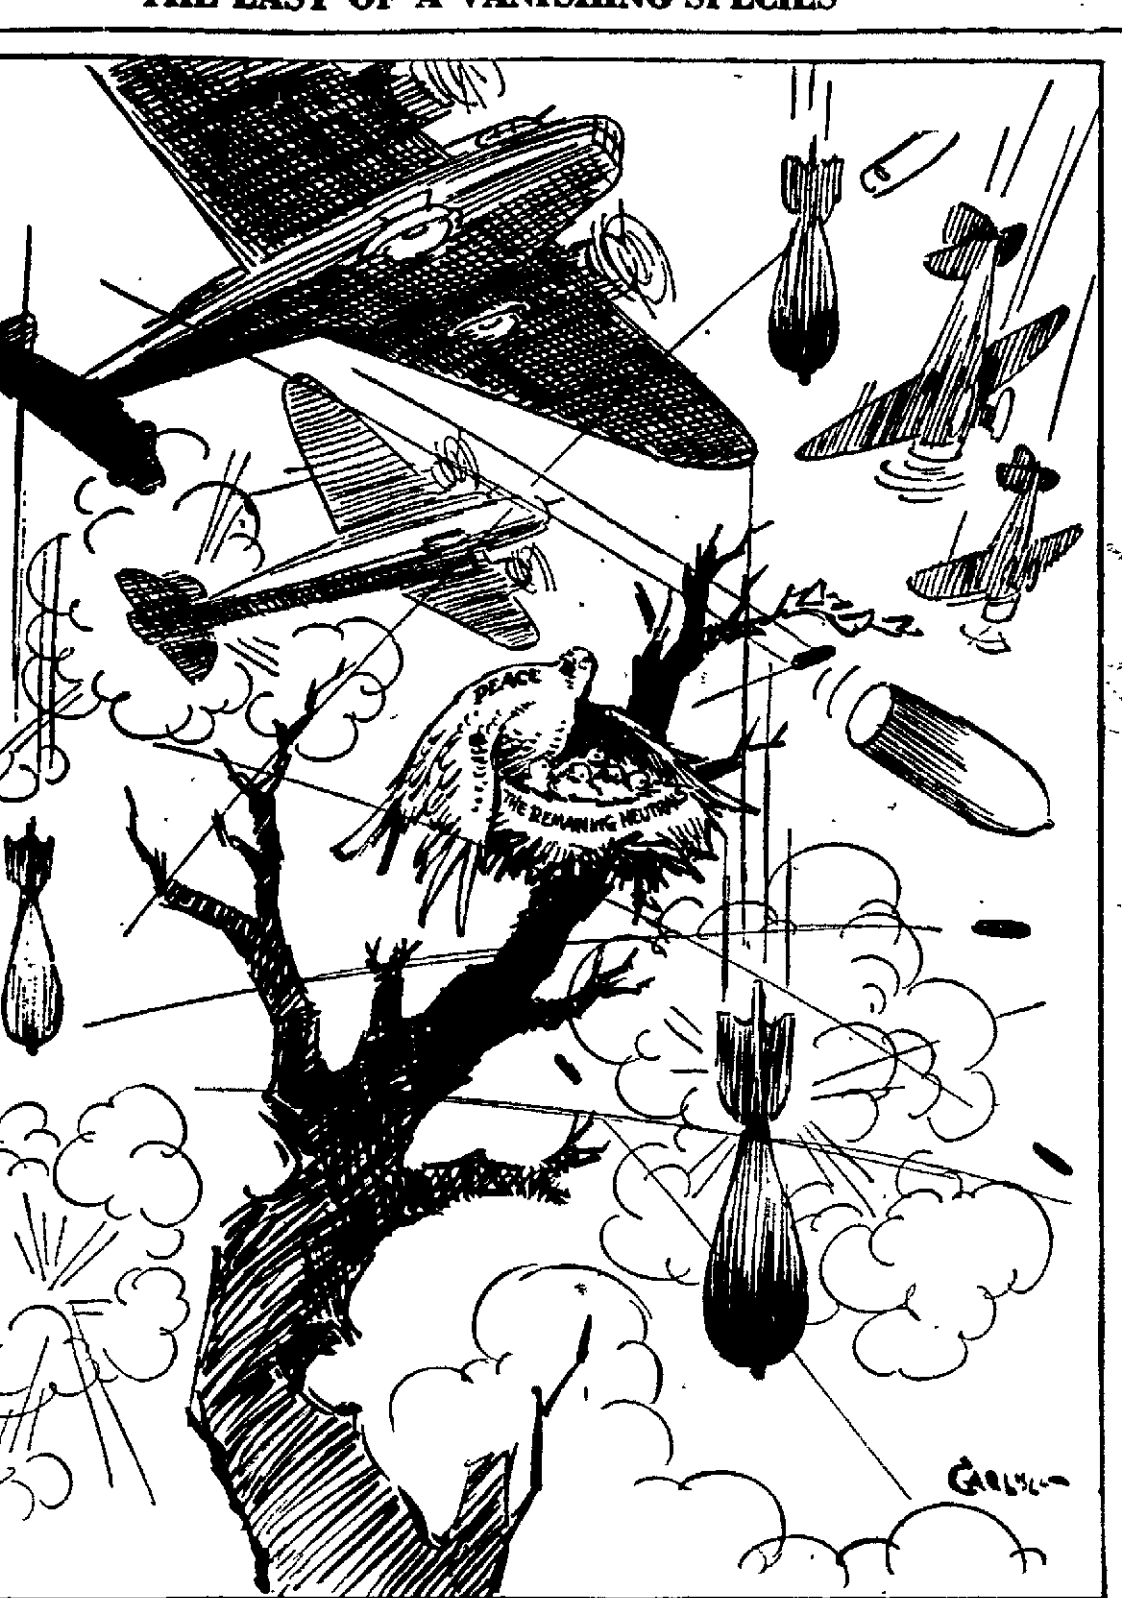

"Hurrah for Cleveland!" he would shout on the slightest provocation.

THEY GOT SOMETHING

Newport, Tenn. — (N) — Manuel Franklin and Dan Norton went fox hunting, but instead of foxes they bagged two rattlesnakes.

While Norton was killing Rattler Number One with a stick, the second reptile emboldened its fangs in his clothing. Franklin shot the snake while it dangled from Norton's pants. Both men escaped unhurt.

THE LAST OF A VANISHING SPECIES

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Madison — Capitol sights and sounds:

A Republican patronage hunter discussing with a friend his preferences for state employment. He would like to get into the public service commission, but that might be rather dull work, he figured. Perhaps the new cigarette tax corps would be better.

"After all Governor Heil appointed a man who never owned or drove a car to the directorship of the motor vehicle bureau, so I ought to fit in the cigarette tax division although I don't smoke."

A party of four prominent legislators, after a long session of cards in an exclusive Madison clubhouse, turning in the check to the cashier and signing to it the name of a well-known legislative lobbyist.

The check listed charges for 24 Scotch highballs, cigars, cigars, dinners for the legislators and their wives. And the waiter nodded understandingly, as if to say that he has received that signature before.

Despite an unfortunate personality, a rasping, hollow voice and an ultra-conservative outlook, Senator Amrose B. Coller of Needah is making an impression on the bored minds of his colleagues in the closing days of the session.

A newcomer who won in one of the many fluke district elections last fall, Coller likes to talk and hesitated not at all in the face of the tradition that first term members ought not to do so.

The other day during the stalemate on the ninth tax bill before the senate he delivered a lecture on taxation and its principles which was accounted by all who heard it to be the most intelligent presentation made thus far this session, and probably for a good many sessions in the past.

Incidentally, Coller is a close friend of Lieutenant Gov. Walter S. Goodland, whose function is confined to presiding over the senate, and puts before his colleagues many of Goodland's ideas on government and its problems.

STRATEGY
One evening recently this reporter asked a leading Wisconsin politician who will in all likelihood run for governor next year what he would have proposed upon entering that office this year had he won the election last fall.

"The election last fall was won on the pledge for economy, whether that's possible or not. The farmer getting 10 cents for his cheese and 90 cents for his milk repented the idea that 'loafers' in the capitol were getting $250 and $300 a month while he couldn't scrape together the interest on the mortgage. They expected a house-cleaning, and I would have given it to them. I would have mopped up the capitol from one end to the other. It would have raised the devil with me in Madison, where they live on the government, but there would have been cheers upstate."

The same man pointed out that some of the new Republican governors to whom the Republican national committee points with pride, Stassen of Minnesota and Vandenberg of Rhode Island, for examples, did just that, to the plaudits of the multitudes.

"Mr. Heil mistook the complaint of a person here and there when he proposed firing people and slashing departments' budgets for the voice of public opinion. That was his principal mistake, and he is doubtless sorry for it now."

HOW TO GET VITAMIN A

Vitamin A was discovered years after vitamin B, and was at first confused with what has since been recognized as vitamin D because both are soluble in oil and occur together in the fat or oil of the liver of fishes and the body fat or oil of fishes, oysters and to a limited extent in the body fat or fat-like sterols in animals and man, in the yolk of egg, in milk and cream and butter.

Pro-vitamin A, otherwise called carotene, of which at least three forms are known, occurs in green and yellow plants such as carrot, greens, (lists of vitamin rich foods will be given later) and if sufficient of the foods containing it are included in the daily diet it probably fulfills the body's requirement for carotene has to be converted into natural or real vitamin A by metabolism in the body before it can function as a vitamin. Nutrition chemists estimate that a considerable part of the carotene taken either in food or in the pure form as medicine is lost because it is not utilized by the body as readily as natural or real vitamin A is when taken either in food or in concentrated form as medicine.

When insufficient vitamin A is provided in the diet or otherwise there is a tendency to eye trouble called Xerophthalmia, dry eyes, chronic irritation and low grade inflammation, sensation as the "sand in eyes," in unrecognized and unchecked cases advancing to ulceration of cornea and serious damage to the eyesight. In milder cases the only noticeable manifestation of shortage of vitamin A may be night blindness, inability to see well in the dusk or in dim light or against the glare of approaching traffic in night driving. This fairly common condition is a factor on many traffic accidents at night. Sometimes it is a factor in the loss of a job. For instance a moving picture operator became unable to see the signals or cues for starting a new reel—small dots or points of light, until he tried taking natural vitamin A and then within a day or two he could see the cues as well as a familiar test for night-blindness is made with an instrument by means of which the subject's ability to see small points or dots of light in a totally dark field is registered. It must be remembered, however, that other conditions than vitamin A deficiency may be accountable for night blindness, although certainly it can do no harm in any case to try taking optimal doses of natural vitamin A (say 100,000 units in capsules—four capsules) daily for a week or two as a test of the matter, and if this brings notable improvement, then seeing to it that the diet includes adequate amounts of vitamin A rich foods.

Severe deficiency of vitamin A is likely to be responsible for an obstinate skin condition characterized by hard dry red papules, the seat of the papule being the orifice of the sebaceous gland and the hair follicles in areas covered with down or hair as the outer surfaces of the calves and forearms, sometimes the face where the trouble is mistaken for acne (blackheads and pimples). The therapeutic test is equally harmless to try in these cases — take 100,000 units of natural vitamin A daily for a few weeks — if the skin improves see to the A in your diet. If no improvement occurs inside of a month, no harm done but it is clear the trouble is not due to shortage of vitamin A.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS

Meat

Does meat contain vitamins, minerals or any essential substance which cannot be found in other foods? (O. R. H.)

Answer—Meat contains all of the substances or elements you mention, but every essential food material or accessory may be found in other foods than animal flesh, though hardly in foods not of animal origin—for example milk, cheese, eggs are indispensable if no meat is included in the diet.

Former Premier Rolls 'em

Inclosed clipping indicates you have another convert, but his technique may be faulty. (D. O. B.)

Answer—Clipping is a drawing showing a man standing on his hands, and the legend says it is Camille Chautemps, ex-premier of France, who often expresses extreme pleasure by turning somersaults on the lawn. Let the former Premier, or the artist, or both send me name and address and I'll see that they are inducted into the Somersaulting and taught the correct technique. Or any other reader who provides a stamped addressed envelope.

W. Smith, Mrs. George Oshagor, Mrs. Ella Lehman and Mrs. P. C. Battles.

Frater James Johnson of De Pere was a weekend visitor at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson of this vicinity. Frater Johnson, who has been teaching junior and senior English at St. Norbert's High school, De Pere, will leave Friday for Philadelphia, Pa., where he will assume a like position in the English department of the South East Catholic High school. He will remain there for the remainder of the school year to fill a vacancy caused by the illness of the Rev. John Kohnek.

A meeting of the Band Booster club will be held at the high school Tuesday evening. Band mothers and all women of the community are being invited to attend the meeting and become members of the club.

Mrs. Chester Daggett and little daughter, Carol, of Los Angeles, Calif., arrived here Monday and will spend a month visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Daggett of this vicinity.

The following named were guests of Mrs. Estie Van Huelkom at the Miss Estie Meidam residence Sunday: Mrs. Belle Hart and son, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gillispie and daughter Mabel of Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Scott of Oshkosh.

PTA Conference At Oconto Oct. 6

Mrs. Katherine Sullivan,
Kaukauna, Will be Special Speaker

The annual conference of the eighth Parent Teachers association district will be held at the Presbyterian church and gymnasium in Oconto Friday, Oct. 6. The session will begin with registration at 9 o'clock, the program opening at 9:30.

Mrs. E. J. Shellman, Oconto, district president, will preside. The theme of the program is "Building for Strength, Unit by Unit." Letters have been sent to the 58 unit presidents of the district.

The Wisconsin Congress of Parents and Teachers is sending the state president, Mrs. H. P. Stoll, to the meeting. She will address the group on "What the Unit Does for Its Members." Miss Emma Brookmire, field secretary, will speak on "What the Members Do For the Unit" and Mrs. W. R. McCabe will discuss "What the Unit Does for the Community."

A. I. Winther, Oconto county superintendent, will speak on parent-teacher relationships. Business sessions will cover reports, election of officers, and the ratification, amending or vetoing of a district financing plan.

Mrs. Katherine Sullivan of Kaukauna will be the special speaker at the conference, talking on "Delinquency, How Parents and Teachers Contribute to It."

Mrs. Martha Lyons, Shiocton, Has Song Published by Firm

Mrs. Martha Lyons, Shiocton, has been notified by American Music, Inc., a music publishing firm, that a song she has written has been published.

The song is entitled, "Under the Mellow Moonbeam." It was written about a year ago. Mrs. Lyons estimates she has written more than 100 songs.

The music publishing firm notified her by letter that "an intensive fall and winter campaign" will be made to promote her song through radio broadcasts and complimented her on her "professional attainments" in the song-writing field.

Get More Oxygen In Your Blood And You Will Get The Pep That Sends You Bounding Up The Stairs

If you are always tired, feel as if you never get enough sleep, feel as if you have lost all your pep and energy you may be suffering from low blood count and don't know it. Countless thousands are.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in a motor car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

What you need is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These world-famous pills help make more and better red blood corpuscles and thus increase the oxygen-carrying power of your blood. Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for three weeks and see for yourself how this fine power blood builder will help restore your pep and energy. Check Trumps 'Til Side Suit Is Established

BY ELY CULBERTSON
"An expert seldom misplays a hand in which the application of a coup, strip, squeeze, or standard safety play is clearly marked as the necessary expedient," writes John Stabile, prominent northwestern player and analyst in the current number of The Bridge World magazine. "But in the handling of a cross-ruff, or a situation demanding nice timing, he may stub his toe and look like a rank novice." And Mr. Stabile proves his point with the following hand: South dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH	EAST
♠ A 8 4	♠ 5 2

The bidding:

North	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 diamonds	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 no trump	Pass	5 no trump	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

North was tempted to bid for a grand slam over his partner's six spade bid, but desisted largely because of his three low hearts. He figured that South might easily lose a heart trick, even if he had an enormous outside hand.

West opened the club nine. Declarer won with the ace and cashed the spade king, then laid down the heart ace. When the eight of hearts fell from East's hand declarer paused for a moment, but although he realized that there might be need for care, apparently did not know just how to apply it. He laid down the spade queen, then led the club queen to the king. Next he led a low heart from dummy, not caring very much whether or not East might, as it happened, however, East had no more trumps which, from declarer's point of view, was too bad. The heart king won and a heart was returned, but now when West won a diamond, declarer and there was no means by which declarer could dispose of another losing heart.

The fall of the heart eight should indeed have given declarer pause and suggested that measures be taken against the possibility that it was a singleton. Where declarer went wrong was in leading the second round of trumps. He should have realized that this action might permit a fatal third round to be led by the opponents. Instead of laying down the spade queen declarer should have entered dummy with a club and returned a heart immediately. If East were able to ruff this round he could do no harm—declarer, of course, would follow suit with a low heart. Now, when East returned a diamond, declarer would win, cash the spade queen, and then safely lay down the heart ace and ruff a heart in dummy.

If, on the heart lead from dummy, East refuses to ruff, declarer still is in no danger. He wins with the heart king and returns a heart immediately. West can win and lead another heart, but now dummy can ruff with the spade ace and thereby prevent an overruff.

The entire crux of a hand such as this is not to draw too many trumps before establishing the side suit.

My Neighbor Says—

Tuck daffodil bulbs in vacant spots all over the garden between other perennials and under the edges of shrubbery. The leaves when they become unsightly are then concealed by the foliage of the perennials and shrubs.

Add a few chopped ripe or green olives to plain or lemon sauce served with fish.

Grate raw carrots and use them with prunes in gelatin salads. The salad may then be served as a separate course or with roast fowl, fish or meat.

Keep a dozen or more cans of soups, meats and fruits on your pantry shelves. You need never have no fear of the arrival of an unexpected guest.

To prevent dried fruits dropping to the bottom of a gelatin mold, chill fruits and add when gelatin mixture has partly congealed.

Snowdrops, so perfectly named because they often blossom in the snow and look like drops of snow would look if there were such things, pass a Winter of subzero temperatures buried 2 inches deep, often encased in ice; and then at the first real thaw of the Spring they burst into leaf and bloom. Frosts and freezing do not hurt them even then.

Couples Should Avoid Letting Love Die After Settling Down

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I am one of those who sit in silence, ride in silence and eat in silence. Sometimes it is so thick you could almost cut it with a bread knife. I know why. Love is dead. And when there is a corpse in the house there is always silence. They love makes people irritable, so they raise ructions, honpeck, grow selfish, quarrel and are hard to handle, but when love is alive they are amiable and jolly. When you meet sour and onery folks, put it down that love is dead. Husbands and wives are not careful enough about keeping each other's love alive. Take it from one who knows. A MAN.

Answer: These are words of warning that every young married couple should take to heart in order that they may be spared the fate of this man and thousands of other husbands and wives who keep a perpetual wake over the dead body of love that they have murdered between them.

DOROTHY DIX
Nothing else in the world is sadder than to go into one of the homes in which a husband and wife sit up in a damp and clammy silence that makes it as depressing as a grave. They have cheer all about them. Everything to make them happy. Beautiful furniture. Lovely rugs. Rare pictures and bric-a-brac. But no stage setting can make a happy home in which the husband and wife have ceased to care for each other; in which they have nothing to say to each other because they have no longer anything in common.

They have killed love, yet neither one intentionally committed the crime. Neither one has wronged the other in any unforgivable way. They have just blundered through ignorance and stupidity into committing the unpardonable sin.

Sometimes love was starved to death. They never bothered to feed love on little tender words and caresses. They never gave it any sweet kisses. They never took the curse of marriage and made it a joy instead of a chore by giving each other appreciation and admiration.

Sometimes they stab love to death by cruel speeches that are like dagger thrusts in its heart, by criticisms and fault-finding, by saying to each other harsher things than any enemy would have said, by telling each other home truths that left wounds that never healed and offering each other insults that branded them with shame.

Sometimes they kill love with sheer boredom. Neither one felt that they had to make any effort to be pleasant and entertaining at home. They gave their good times and the wisecracks for other people's dinner tables. They didn't waste them on their own. The husband sat up all evening behind his paper and grunted when his wife spoke to him, and the wife interrupted the husband when he did try to talk by saying: "Oh, look how cute the kitten is!" Conversation became such an effort that they finally gave it up and just yawned in each other's faces.

Yet when they were married these men and women loved each other and couldn't talk out. They had millions of things to say to each other. And they could have kept themselves interesting and jolly companions to the end if only they had taken a little time and trouble to keep love alive. What a pity.

Child's Welfare Comes First

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young woman of 25 and have a little boy of 5. A year ago my husband and I were divorced and I kept the boy. My husband has never stopped loving me and wants me to marry him again and the little boy begs me to marry his father so that he can have us both, but I don't want to do it. I never loved my husband. I like and respect him, but that is all. Since I have to hire some-one to take care of the boy and he doesn't receive the care I could give him, is it my duty to marry his father again in order to make him a home and give him my personal care? There is no man I care for, although I have hoped that some time I would meet a man whom I would really love.

MRS. A. B. C.

Answer: Your own conscience must be your guide in this matter. I could not take the responsibility of deciding whether or not you should go back to your husband, whom you seem to have left for no reason except that you didn't find him thrilling and you had some silly, mawkish yearnings after romance.

I believe in divorce, as I believe in the surgeon's knife, when there is some cankerous sore in matrimony.

Beauty and You

by PATRICIA LINDSAY

SONJA HENIE lured success through acquiring a splendid code of living. Today she is compensated in charm, success, beauty and fame.

Probably it isn't easy for you young girls to be back at school. Vacation days seem very remote and you gripe about the restrictions you are now under. Discipline is distasteful after the care-free days of summer and you are irked by the sensible requests made by those who are responsible for your training.

First let me say, be glad that you have the opportunity to learn. Thousands are denied the privilege. Make the most of it—school days are all too brief and care-laden days many! Cherish every opportunity that comes your way to help you grow into an intelligent, charming woman. Both the knowledge and charm will be called upon to serve you for the rest of your days!

Six Educational Needs
President Day of Cornell University spoke wise words about education before the Institute of Parent Leadership. He said bluntly that there are six educational needs and parents and teachers should see that children are instructed in them. I might add that children might try to achieve them without the aid of parents or teachers. And whether you are in school or through with school, those six needs are pretty vital to a well balanced, successful life.

- 1—Acquire the basic skills such as reading and writing.
- 2—Cultivate interest in sensitivity.
- 3—Form good work habits (learn to concentrate).
- 4—Learn to live with one's feelings.
- 5—Protect your health and acquire good health habits especially in mental health.
- 6—Cultivate the art of critical thinking.

President Day pointed out that those of you who fail in cultivation these six characteristics will be the perpetual juveniles—you will be unable to cope with life and will be dependent upon other persons for your welfare. That means in simpler words—you will not be among the successful; you will not be happy for only the independent are truly happy as life.

You have been told, is the survival of the fittest!

The first is easy if you have any gumption whatever. The second is more difficult to master. President Day means you should have all your feelers out—you should glory in the sunset, like the rain. You should be sympathetic when sympathy is due; you should "sense" things—know when to speak the right word, do the right thing.

Good health habits should be formed young. Learn to concentrate. One of the best ways to do this is to concentrate the same hours each day. Pull your mind away from your surroundings and study or work. Give your all to it. See that what you do is done well! Never be satisfied with half measure or of life will give you half measure.

Get busy, my loves, and don't waste precious hours putting up foolish arguments!

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

High blood pressure may be a result of organic changes in the body, but it can also be a consequence of prolonged fear and anxiety. An inferiority complex or a dread of your boss may make your heart pump faster, and your blood pressure rise higher than the active exercise of a tennis game.

CASE O-158: Wilfred G., aged 43, is a department store owner.

"While listening to a recent prize fight announced over the radio," he began, "I noticed my heart pounding like a trip hammer, so I took my pulse. It was racing at 120 beats per minute.

"I suppose that my blood pressure was correspondingly increased, though I was sitting comfortably in my easy chair and not exercising.

"A few days later I played a couple sets of tennis with some business friends. I'm not in the best of physical trim, for I don't exercise a great deal. While I was panting for breath, I decided to count my pulse, and found it was 90.

"Apparently emotional excitement can raise my blood pressure and I cite my heart even more than hard physical work, eh?"

DIAGNOSIS: Yes, worry and unsolved emotional conflicts can thus break over the strongest physique. The resulting collapse is often called a nervous breakdown. Again, it may drain a man's vitality to the point where some intercurrent infection, such as pneumonia, may be too much for his resistance to throw off.

Some people die in their sleep as a result of high blood pressure. It is quite likely that some exciting dream may have raised the already high blood pressure a few extra points so that a small vessel or capillary ruptured in the brain, thus accounting for some of these nocturnal strokes.

When we find business men here in Chicago with blood pressures in the neighborhood of 200, we advise a slower pace and may urge them to visit Florida or California for a vacation.

After a month or so in those states, their blood pressure may have dropped to 160 or 170, thus showing the benefit of such relaxation.

Worry Raises Your Blood Pressure

But this reduction is not due solely to the excellent climate of Florida or California. Men in those states whose blood pressure is 200, may come to Chicago for a vacation and

Dr. Crane will give personal attention to questions on Psychological problems. Write him in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and a dime in cover printing and typing costs. Letters and reader's names are never published.

School Children Should Try To Develop Good Penmanship

BY ANGELO PATRI

Good penmanship is a fine accomplishment. No matter how fine the writing machines may be, handwriting will always be a serviceable, an indispensable art that everyone can possess. We cannot all become experts, but every one of us can learn to write clearly, and with some regard to beauty of form.

Some children have poor coordination, and that always makes penmanship difficult. When the teacher finds a pupil whose penmanship is worse than ordinary, he should test the child's coordination, and examine the power he has in the accessory muscles of his hands.

Little children in the early grades of elementary school have not perfect control over the accessory muscles. These are what control the finger adjustments of the hand. The child has power of the larger muscles so he can hold and catch a ball, hold and direct his eating implements and the like, but he may not have developed the control necessary for using a pen or a needle. That comes later and should not be forced. If the child's hands are still the hands of an infant, he must not be asked to make fine adjustments in penmanship or in any other activity. Be content with his more crude effort for the time being. Let him learn form by printing and writing with the larger movements.

The older children usually learn to write without too much bother, especially if they have first mastered the form of the letters. That ought to come first. When children are made to speed up their movements in rhythmic writing they are likely to lose the good form of the letters which makes for legibility in their attempt to keep time. If that form has been set the speeding will not do so much harm to the form.

In this older group we find children with faulty vision and faulty coordinations which yield slowly to treatment, and it is for such children that typewriters should be used. Let them learn to write, but do not ask too much in form or quality or speed. Teach them, instead, to use the typewriter. Typewriting is useful to all who write to any extent. The exercise the fingers and hands get help faulty coordination and so improve the penmanship that suffers from that handicap.

Some poor spellers are helped by the use of the typewriter. These are the children who do not see words clearly in terms of the letters that form them, or who do not remember the form that they saw long enough to enable them to write it when called upon to do so. Typing demands a touch for each letter, and the mind calls that letter by name, and helps the hands put it in place. The process helps those who have this kind of spelling difficulty.

Typewriters are expensive and all schools cannot have them for all children, but it is usually possible to get enough of them for the children who need them for the training purposes other than the writing practice for which machines are made. A father or mother on the lookout for a second-hand machine for their special needs can get one, and every school can have at least one. Even one would help in the training of children whose writing powers are defeated by poor coordination.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers in the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Meet Mr. Lochinvar

By Marie Blizard

YESTERDAY: No explanations are forthcoming when Cecily and Donald find Laura and Locke near his cabin. Cecily can't understand. Locke acts as if the situation were perfectly normal. Later, Laura sends for Cecily, but tells her nothing.

Chapter 33

IN THE DARK

Cecily had said, "I made up my mind that I had stirred up a situation out of whole cloth, imagined something important—even though I didn't know what it was—and that it was a silly, senseless thing to do."

"I put myself on the carpet and went at it analytically. My resulting conclusion was that I was quite bright. I decided that I was as romantic as any foolish heroine of a cheap love story. Just because I didn't know anything about the man I'd fallen in love with, I clothed him with all sorts of back-grounds of a most lurid past."

"Cecily, when women fall in love, they always do that. A woman never takes a man for what he is, as she does other women; she always makes him into what she wants him to be."

"We're getting away from the point. I wanted to tell you that, having faced this whole thing, I finally got what I thought was the right idea—a simple situation. I had made into a melodrama. And then, having decided this, all of a sudden a great big mystery—a real mystery—breaks over my head. It's like a nightmare. No explanations for it."

Laura took one of Cecily's hands into her own. "Listen to me, Cecily. I've got more to tell you. I'm telling you. I'm going to ask you to believe me. Your hunch that there was something peculiar going on also demonstrate a drop of 30 points.

What really is significant in such cases is the fact that these high pressure business executives step out of the tense, habitual environment of their office or factory, and slip back into a more carefree mood, reminiscent of their boyhood.

Even a high school youth will have a marked increase in blood pressure and pulse rate when he tackles some exciting job like making a public speech, asking a girl for a date, or competing in an athletic event. As he becomes habituated to such actions, his tension diminishes.

Mental strain and worry are decidedly fatiguing. An office secretary who is in fear and trembling because of her harsh, tactless boss may consume almost as much energy in her constant fright as in the actual work of operating her typewriter.

Only A Dream

A pall of finality, an acceptance that the dream was only a dream. Lines she had read into a blank page. Music heard where there were no notes. Face the blankness, the silence, the void, Cecily Stuart. Strange that there could be such emptiness when there had been nothing more than a dream to occupy this now-empty space. Cecily, think with your mind and not with your heart. Pay your losses with dignity and go on to something else. Nothing stands still. You have things to do. You have one business to wind up and another to start. Be alert. Be gay!

Cecily made arrangements to have her furnishings taken to Darling for winter storage, to have her stock packed to ship to New York the first of October. She made a careful inventory. She mended book-backs, filled letters, catalogued her cards.

She wrote to Hilda Froman. "Keep a weather eye out for a spot for me in our old neighborhood. I won't want a big place," she wrote, "and I won't go in for a large stock of new books. The circulating department and a magazine stand should provide a reasonable living and that's all I want. Aunt Olivia has said that she would prefer having me stay with her in New York to going back to my own apartment, so I'm leaving my furniture here. Gloria will be in the South for most of the winter and I think that Aunt Olivia really enjoys my company."

She put down her pen. I have been selfish, she thought, thinking only of myself. I've given poor reason for all that Aunt Olivia has done for me. She likes gayety around her and I've done very little to add to it.

She took a day off and asked Philip to drive her to Portland. And found, to her surprise, that she enjoyed that day.

They started early in the morning, arriving in time for lunch. Cecily laughed at his salutes, said to herself, "If I can enjoy myself so easily, I'll cultivate the habit. I'll learn not to think of anyone but the person I'm with."

After lunch she said, "Philip, do you mind being on your own for a couple of hours? I want to go to the hardware store, and do some shopping. Then, we might meet for a cocktail before we start back."

Philip protested that he would be a great help to her. Nevertheless he went to the movies and Cecily went off by herself.

She bought an evening dress. A

JUMPER-BOLERO

BY ANNE ADAMS

"Teacher's pet" is the bright little scholar whose smart mother dresses her in this three-piece outfit, Anne Adams' Pattern 4273. The jumper is ingeniously designed for easy making, for both the front and back panels continue up in one piece to form the straps. The sides are also cut in one easy piece with no side seams—just darts for nice fit. A wonderful time-saver and smart, too, for they are blas-cut to give a swing to the hemline. The decorative scalloped buttoning is convenient for little fingers. A sweet blouse is included with the pattern.

Pattern 4273 is available in children's sizes 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6, jumper and bolero, takes 2 1/2 yards 54 inch fabric; Jumper 2 1/2 yards 35 inch fabric and blouse, 1 yard contrast.

Send your order to Post-Crescent, Pattern Department, 243 West 17th St., New York, N. Y.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly size, name, address and style number.

THE HOME GARDENER

by EDWIN H. PERKINS

Failure of peonies to bloom last spring may be traced to a deficiency of phosphorus and potash in the soil. Peonies require great quantities of these two materials which are seldom added except in the form of complete fertilizers. Bone meal is a rich source of supply of these and it is good practice, now, to add from one to four handfuls of this material to each of the peony plants growing in our gardens. Being slowly soluble, we can expect little if any effect from bone meal until next spring.

On the whole, peonies do not need winter protection. They are perfectly hardy if they have been properly planted. The exception is found in localities in Illinois, Ohio and in southern Iowa, where snow cannot be depended on to furnish a continuous covering. More northern sections of the country are free from this hazard and in more temperate climates peonies do not need winter protection.

If you have any doubts concerning whether your peonies have been properly planted or not, it might pay to mulch them, using as a medium straw, corn stalks or other disease-free garden litter. Under no circumstances use any garden litter which shows the slightest sign of disease since that disease will certainly be carried over to next year's crop of foliage.

Women of Eight Protestant Churches Join in Sponsoring World Fellowship Institute

WOMEN of eight Protestant churches of Appleton will join tomorrow in sponsoring the third annual World Fellowship Institute of the Interdenominational Council of Church Women which opens at 10 o'clock in the morning in the little theater of First Methodist church. Participating churches are All Saints Episcopal, Emmanuel Evangelical, First Baptist, First Congregational, First Methodist, Memorial Presbyterian, Trinity English Lutheran and St. John Evangelical and Reformed.

3-Day Church Conclave Will Begin Friday

DELEGATES from First Congregational church to the one hundred first annual meeting of the Wisconsin Congregational conference at Kenosha Friday, Saturday and Sunday will leave tomorrow. They are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Corp, Mr. and Mrs. Lacey Horton, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Gebhardt, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bayley, Miss Ruth Davies and Miss Beverly Olson.

Dr. John B. Hanna, pastor, and Dr. John W. Wilson, pastor-at-large for Congregational churches in Wisconsin, will attend also. Organization of a laymen's fellowship is listed on a laymen's luncheon program Saturday noon, and Miss Lillian Day, home on furlough from the mission field, will speak on India at a women's luncheon that noon. Dr. Wilson will preside at the ministers' luncheon Saturday, and there will be a young people's luncheon also.

Two banquets, one for adults and the other for young people, will be held Saturday night.

Arrangements for a food sale Saturday and a business people's luncheon next Tuesday were made by two circles of the Presbyterian Guild at meetings on Tuesday. Mrs. A. W. Miller's circle had its luncheon and business meeting at Mrs. Lloyd Hartwig's home, E. Lawrence street, and appointed committees for the food sale it will sponsor Saturday morning at Geenen's. Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. St. L. Swanson and Mrs. Stanley Groes comprise the committee which will call for baked goods that the women are unable to bring themselves. Mrs. Julia Foreman and Mrs. John Hoelzer will be in charge of the sale from 9 to 11 o'clock when they will be relieved by Mrs. Henry Marty and Mrs. Helen Mason. Women who want their donations called for have been asked to call Mrs. Miller before Saturday or Mrs. Marty before 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Twenty women were present at the meeting. Mrs. Joseph Foley and Mrs. Marty assisted Mrs. Hartwig as hostess.

Mrs. John Oliver's circle met Tuesday afternoon at her home on E. Pacific street, with Mrs. John Van Caster and Mrs. Mae Hartwig as assistant hostesses. Nineteen women were present. Plans were made for the bazaar and for the business people's luncheon to be served next Tuesday noon at the church. Open to the public, it will be served in plate lunch style for quick service.

Mrs. P. F. Stallman, E. Wisconsin avenue, will entertain the Friendship class of First Baptist church Friday evening at her home. Mrs. Roy Morris and Mrs. Ray Kirchner will be assistant hostesses, and the members will prepare a box to be sent to Mother school in the south.

Circle 7 of First Congregational church held a wieners' roast Wednesday afternoon at Erb park with 17 members present. Another outing will be held later in the fall. Next Tuesday the circle will meet with Mrs. Fannie Spencer, captain, at 711 E. Franklin street.

Ten gailon hats, colored kerchiefs, plaid shirts and other western equipment will be worn by members of the committee in charge of the "Four-up" party for Home-builders of Memorial Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock Friday night at the church. A cowboy quartet will sing western songs and the assembly will be invited to join in group singing. Several stunts in the western theme have been arranged. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bertram are co-chairmen of the party.

Mrs. Barrows to Resume 'At Homes' Next Week

Mrs. Thomas N. Barrows will resume her monthly "at homes" next Tuesday afternoon at her home on S. Union street. She began the practice of entertaining her friends at these informal receptions two years ago, and found the plan so successful that she has resumed it each fall with the opening of Lawrence college.

given by Mrs. L. J. Marshall who will speak of the work of the local Red Cross, and Joseph Weber, president of the Civic League of Decency, who will tell what has been done by the league and what is yet to be done. Mrs. Earl Harder, district worker for the Children's Aid Society of Wisconsin, will speak on "Children in Our Midst."

The program will open with the pledge of allegiance to the American flag and the Christian flag, invocation and scripture by the Rev. C. H. Zeldner, pastor of Trinity English Lutheran church. Mrs. Marshall will give her talk after which Mrs. Earl Harder will speak.

Following Mr. Weber's address, Mrs. White will discuss "Homeland Harvest," and Mrs. Vern Ames will give a report on the Lake Geneva summer school of missions. A picnic lunch will be eaten at 12:30, each woman bringing her own lunch. Coffee will be served by the church.

At the afternoon session Mrs. White will speak on the book, "Through Tragedy to Triumph," and Mrs. Washer will give her talk on experiences in central Africa. Miss Marie Illingworth will sing a solo.

Europe as it saw it this summer was described by Dr. Louis C. Baker, professor of modern languages at Lawrence college, in the first of a series of four lectures on the current European situation Wednesday morning in the little theater of First Methodist church. Dr. Baker told of preparations for war in England and Germany, and something of the reaction of people in those countries to the critical situation.

The next lecture will be in two weeks when Dr. Baker will relate the causes leading up to the present crisis. The lectures are being sponsored by Circles 2, 3 and 5 of Social Union of the Methodist church.

"Christian Missions of Tomorrow" was the topic discussed by Robert Haese, Forest Junction, president of Appleton district Brotherhood, at a men's night meeting of Women's Missionary society of Emmanuel Evangelical church last night at the church. About 110 men and women were present.

A pageant entitled "The Only Day I Have" was put on by a group of men and women, and the men's chorus sang "I Will Lift Up Mine Eyes." The study topic was "The American City and Its Church," and a piano solo, "The Last Hope," was given by Mrs. A. C. Young.

The annual fall festival of St. Patrick's congregation at Green Bay, of which the Rev. J. E. Meagher is pastor, will open Sunday and continue through Wednesday night. Father Meagher formerly was pastor of St. Mary church, Appleton. The festival program includes the serving of meals all four days and various types of games and bazaar amusements.

Mrs. Martin New Head of 3 Links Club

MRS. William Martin was elected president of the Rebekah Three Links club at its meeting Wednesday night at Odd Fellow hall. Others named to office were Mrs. Dora Buttles, vice president; Mrs. John McCarter, treasurer; and Mrs. George Gaudin, secretary. Forty persons, members of the club and their families, were served at a pot-luck dinner before the election of officers. The women had met in the afternoon to play cards, but no prizes were given.

Ten tables of cards were in play at the social hour following the meeting of Foresters Wednesday night at Catholic home. Schafkopf prizes were won by Mrs. Ray Van De Hey and Mrs. Rose Bellin, at contract bridge by Mrs. Fred Sillip and Mrs. George Koehler and at auction by Miss Mary M. Stipp.

The Neenah Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles drill team put on several fancy drills at the meeting of the local auxiliary last night at Eagle hall, at which the Neenah auxiliary members were guests. Cards were played after the meeting and prizes at schafkopf went to Mrs. William Fischer, Appleton; Mrs. Rose Blohm and Mrs. Layne Robinson, Neenah; and Mrs. Ed Knaack, Appleton; at bridge to Mrs. W. Abend-schein, Neenah, and Mrs. Leo Flynn; and at dice to Mrs. H. Van Zummeren, Appleton; Mrs. William Redlin and Mrs. Anna Eberlein, Neenah. Mrs. William Murphy, given by Mrs. L. J. Marshall who will speak of the work of the local Red Cross, and Joseph Weber, president of the Civic League of Decency, who will tell what has been done by the league and what is yet to be done. Mrs. Earl Harder, district worker for the Children's Aid Society of Wisconsin, will speak on "Children in Our Midst."

First Automobiles In Scotland Form Radio Skit Theme

"Mr. Elliot's Crazy Notion," a radio skit about the first automobiles in Scotland, was presented by members of the Masque and Book club of Appleton High school at their first meeting Wednesday afternoon. Sound effects included a piano, a slamming door, a tin can filled with nails to represent a chugging motor and a raucous horn.

The play centered around an act of parliament which stated: "It shall not be lawful to drive any such vehicle along any road at a greater speed than four miles an hour. One person while it is in motion shall precede it on foot not less than 60 yards and shall carry a red flag to warn the riders and drivers of horses of the approach of such vehicles." The complications which involve the execution of this mandate constitute the humorous plot.

The cast of the skit was Mr. Elliot, John Boon; Mrs. Elsie Jeanne Ruhnig; Dr. Burris, Joseph Marston; chief of police, Marston; indignant lady, Mary Kay O'Keefe; announcer, Elizabeth Wood; sound technicians, Donald Bohl, David Bliss and Connie Vaughn. Miss Alice Petersen, English instructor is faculty adviser.

Homes Opened for Fellowship Parties Of Church Members

At various key points throughout the city last night, 11 members of Memorial Presbyterian church opened their homes to fellow members of the congregation living in their vicinity for an evening of fellowship and get-acquainted stunts. The entertainment in these homes varied with the age and inclinations of those gathered there, some spending the evening in informal visiting, others having games and stunts, and still others having community singing.

Those who held open house for the evening, which was known as Presbyterian Fellowship night, included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crane, 342 W. Parkway boulevard; Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Rehbein, 500 E. Grand street; Mr. and Mrs. Guy J. Barlow, 215 E. Roosevelt street; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lande, 46 Bellaire court; Mr. and Mrs. Roland Schultz, 417 N. Durkee street; Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Pratt, 122 N. Lawe street; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Heller, 333 N. Tonka street; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schneider, 738 E. Alton street; Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Mielke, E. River drive; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Arbogast, 1413 W. College avenue; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson, 922 E. Winnebago street. Elders, trustees and deacons of the church were hosts and hostesses for the evening.

Most of the groups expressed a desire to continue the neighborhood gatherings, and at the next officers' meeting it is expected that definite plans for holding such meetings will be made.

Author, Traveler Is Music Club Speaker

A short talk on art by Anita Willetts Burnham, Winnetka, Ill., traveler, artist and author of "Around the World on a Penny," was an unexpected but pleasant addition to the Wednesday Musicals club's opening program yesterday afternoon. The program, held at the Colonial Inn, Oshkosh, was preceded by a luncheon.

The composer Franz Schubert was the subject of the rest of the afternoon's program. Mrs. Edwin Voigt read a paper on his life and work, after which six of his compositions were played. The musical part of the program follows:

Impromptu in A Flat
Mrs. Andrew Parnell, piano.
The Wild Rose
The Cradle Song
Mrs. Herbert L. Davis, voice.
Serenade
Moment Musical
Mrs. R. A. Raschig, violin.
Impromptu in B Flat
Mrs. David Fulton, piano.
On the luncheon committee were Mrs. John Balliet, Mrs. Fred Bendt, Mrs. Edward Boehm, Mrs. Mildred Boettcher, Miss Winifred Bright, Mrs. Mark Catlin, Mrs. Herbert L. Davis and Mrs. David Fulton. The club's next meeting will take place Oct. 11 at Mrs. Balliet's home.

Orders Increase At FWD Factory

Concern Meets Demands For Trucks From All Parts of Country

Clintonville—Substantial increase in domestic orders, particularly during the last 60 days, is being experienced by the Four Wheel Drive Auto company, officials of the concern said Wednesday. Orders come from all sections of the country, with utilities, highway departments and commercial operators providing a large share of the new business.

Through its purchase of the cab division of the Clark Cab company, Oshkosh, FWD has begun the manufacture of cabs for its complete line of trucks. It also will produce special bodies including fire truck bodies to aid a division of its business which has grown substantially in the last year, it was said.

Besides taking care of the needs of the local truck company this department is developing a promising business from outside companies. It has an order for a quantity of cabs from one outside truck company and smaller orders from a number of other truck concerns.

The local cab department has a capacity of three large cabs or four small cabs, per day. The manage-

Cubs Win Safety Contest in Final Kimberly Question Bee

Kimberly—The Cubs were declared the Kimberly mill safety champs, scoring 1,070 points in a question bee over the Red Sox, with 875 points in the final safety program at the clubhouse Wednesday noon.

The programs were held each month in a six months' safety contest at the mill. Between four and five hundred employees attended Wednesday's gathering. The contest had eight teams participating, named after major baseball teams. The two competing teams in the final program Wednesday, each won two previous contests.

The winning Cubs had Harold Foster of the planning department and Clarence Monyette of the finishing room, each scoring 300 points. Beatrice Willis of the finishing room had 170 points while Ed Derricks of the Millwrights also averaged 300 points.

For the Red Sox C. R. Hackbert of the research had a perfect score of 400 points. Martin Wildenberg of the materials averaged 200 points; Carl Hassell of the steam had 175 and George Bolwerk of the woodyard, 100 points.

Dud Courchane, safety director at the mill, announced that the inter-mill safety contest which ended Sept. 17 had the Atlas mill, Appleton, showing a perfect score with no accidents. Niagara, Wis. mill was second and Kimberly mill third.

The Kimberly mill safety day scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 1, includes tentative plans for an open house at the mill, which will permit visitors from 10 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Children of both schools will participate in a program at the clubhouse in the morning. In the evening a minstrel show will be held in the clubhouse under the direction of J. F. Bannister, Appleton.

Dr. Harry Culver Relected Head of Ministers' Group

Association Votes to Hold Thanksgiving Service Nov. 30

Dr. Harry C. Culver was reelected president of Appleton Ministerial association at the first fall meeting of the organization Wednesday noon at the Y.M.C.A. Dr. John W. Wilson was chosen vice president and George F. Werner was named secretary.

The group voted to hold its annual Thanksgiving program at 10 o'clock the morning of Nov. 30 at First Methodist church with Dr. John B. Hanna, pastor of First Congregational church, as speaker. The executive committee will complete plans for the service. The members also voted to turn over the collection from the union Thanksgiving service to Appleton Council of Religious Education for the weekday school of religion.

The association approved the 14 points of the Christian international code as set up by the World Council of Churches and decided to have the code printed and distributed to churches this Sunday.

A committee consisting of the Rev. Mr. Hanna, the Rev. Robert E. Bell, Dr. Culver, the Rev. C. H. Blum and Mr. Werner was appointed to investigate the Negro problem in Appleton.

The ministerial association will meet this year on the second Wednesday of each month at the Y.M.C.A. A cafeteria luncheon will be served at 11:50 and the meeting will open at 12:30. The group voted to continue the weekly programs at the county asylum and River-view sanatorium.

Cloudy Weather, Showers Forecast

Mercury Climbs to 75 Degrees This Afternoon as Warm Weather Continues

The weatherman is a persistent fellow, anyway.

Forecast of his forecast of showers last night on today to materialize leaves him undaunted and he's gone right ahead to predict cloudy weather tonight and Friday with showers probable.

Warmer weather prevailed in Appleton and vicinity today with the thermometer on the roof of the Post-Crescent building registering 75 degrees early this afternoon. Highest and lowest temperatures during the 24-hour period preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 67 degrees at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and 49 degrees at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, according to records at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

Maximum and minimum temperatures reported in the nation yesterday at official weather stations were 89 degrees at Little Rock, Ark., and 30 degrees at Devil's Lake, N. D., according to the Associated Press.

Federal Court to Conduct Terms in Fox Valley Area

Cases to be Scheduled in Oshkosh and Green Bay, Judge Says

After a lapse of about 10 years, federal court cases will be heard at Green Bay and Oshkosh, it has been announced by Federal District Judge F. Ryan Duffy.

The Outagamie County Bar association recently petitioned the federal court to hold trials in the Fox river valley and pointed out this is provided in the federal statutes. Walter Melchior, who with Abraham Sigman and Andrew Parnell, was named on a committee of the bar association to tender the petition to the federal court, said today that it undoubtedly aided in making the change in policy. The bar association contended that the holding of many federal cases in court at Milwaukee made costs prohibitive for Fox valley residents.

The first federal court case to be scheduled on the Green Bay calendar is the $75,000 damage suit of Orville Myse, Appleton, against George Pillsbury, Minneapolis. The case will be heard the first Wednesday of next April.

Myse was injured in an accident involving cars driven by himself and Pillsbury at the Waverly Beach intersection last August. Myse suffered an injured spine and fractured skull. Pillsbury in a counterclaim asks $3,000 damages.

Milwaukee Man Fined On Drunkenness Charge

Alfred Senstad, Milwaukee, pleaded guilty of drunkenness and was fined $1 and costs with an alternative of 30 days in the county jail by Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday afternoon. Senstad was arrested following a traffic accident at Seymour Sunday. The fine and costs, which included hospital expense, amount to $42.85.

Instead of Friday afternoon as previously announced.

Burial will be in Sassman cemetery, town of Black Creek.

All that was left of two cars in which three Twin City men were killed and a fourth was critically injured is shown in the above picture. The fatal accident occurred about 11:25 last night on Winnebago County Trunk A between Oshkosh and Neenah.

Two men riding in the car on the right were killed. They were Ewald Anderson, Neenah, and John David Clark, Menasha. Julius Schierl, Menasha, the third victim, was riding in the other car along with Theodore F. Drolshagen, Menasha, the only survivor of the crash. Drolshagen suffered broken legs and a crushed chest.

Score Doesn't Matter Much As Frosh, Sophomores Clash In All-College Day Battles

BY VIOLA HELLERMANN

Whether the freshmen or sophomores won the day's events was of little matter—even the scorekeeper seemed a little bit hazy on the outcome of some of the contests—but there were plenty of tattered shirts and egg-spattered trousers, the weather was perfect, it was more fun playing than studying and therefore Lawrence's All-College day Wednesday at Whiting field enjoyed its usual success.

Activities opened ahead of schedule because the boys couldn't wait to get their hands on the soggy muskmelon, dripping tomatoes and old eggs they had collected for the annual freshman-sophomore battle. Because of larger numbers, the freshmen always win this battle, and some of the sophomores, stale egg yolks trickling down their faces, even admitted it yesterday. The battle was brief but furious and left two stained and muddy-colored armchairs roused by the boys' fight, freshman and sophomore girls engaged in a battle of the r.

Even, brief, and soon gave way to a friendly afternoon of tug-of-war contests, relay races, touch football, discus throwing and balloon blowing. On the deserted battlefield east of the football field the only sign of a conflict was an interesting if malodorous conglomeration of overripe tomatoes, oranges and lemons, an ear of corn, smashed melon, green peppers, egg shells, doughnuts and wilted carrots.

During the rest of the afternoon cries of "Beat those frosh" and "Lack those sophomores" were hurled back and forth across the field, but there were no more hand to hand fights.

One of the sensations of the day was Miss Betty Fitzner, platinum blonde freshman cheerleader, who attracted as much attention on the sophomore side as on her own side. As lithe as a Japanese acrobat, she was a funny somersault as she led freshmen cheers and almost made the sophomores jealous. She was cheer leader at her high school at Fox Lake, Ill., before she came here.

The spectators, including upperclassmen, faculty members and a few townspeople, kept their own scores during the matches and paid no heed whatsoever to the official scorekeepers. When John Bodilly, Green Bay, announced in the middle of the girls' discus (paper plate) throwing event that the sophomores were ahead by only one point, the bleacher scorekeepers didn't change their figures to correspond with his.

"Johnny doesn't know what it's all about," they said good-naturedly, continuing the count in their own way.

Sophomores Win
But the Lawrencean, Lawrence college weekly, announced this morning that the sophomore class had come out victorious in the day's events for the first time in the history of All-College days, with a score of 55 to 45. The paper's editor, Jack White, Chicago, was chairman of the day's program, so he caught to know.

At any rate, the contest was extremely close all afternoon and was decided only by the touch football game which the sophomores won, 14 to 13, at the close of the day's events. The men's "chicken" fight was won by the freshman class, as was also the women's balloon blowing contest. Next on the program came the bag rush, which resulted in a tie. The tug-of-war event also ended in a draw, for the sophomores won the women's event and the freshmen, the men's. Encouraged by their victory in the tug-of-war, the sophomore girls won the discus throw easily.

Sophomores won the men's relay race and the mixed relay race, but the freshmen girls outran the sophomores in the girls' race.

Jack White was assisted as chairman of the event by Miss Betty White and Miss Elaine Bucsin, Appleton, and Malcolm Peterson, Rapid River, Mich. Miss Betty Harker, Oak Park, was leader of the sophomore girls; Miss Norrine Beerman, of the freshman coeds; James Sweet, Wausau, of the sophomore men; and Chapin Plumer, Batavia, Ill., of the freshman men.

Except for a few minor scratches and bruises, the only casualty in the day's rough-and-tumble program occurred when some one inadvertently stepped on Edward Troffer's hand in the bag rush event, breaking a bone in the hand. Troffer is a sophomore from Benton Harbor, Mich., and was back in his classes today.

While Republicans argue that they want to remove arbitrary authority from commission division heads by vesting authority in a single director, and that they want to economize in the commission's operating expense, opponents deny that economy will result, and assert, moreover, that the commission's budget will be more than $100,000 higher as a result.

Latest blast against the bill was released this week by the firemen and engineers, the engineers, and the conductors.

"Privately most of you, including some who have voted for the bill," they told the legislators in a printed statement, "admit to us that this is bad legislation. Possibly you do not know that at three public hearings no one but its two senator authors dared speak in behalf of the bill."

activities, suggested registration of aliens and requested the legionnaires to aid in efforts directed against subversive activities.

The legionnaires also called upon congress to enact legislation to "eliminate all profits from war" as a move to safeguard the nation's peace.

The demand for universal service in war time was supported unanimously when presented by the committee on legislation.

The organization opposed any change in the method of declaring war in the United States—an action aimed at proposals to put the question of war or peace into the hands of the citizens in a referendum.

By mandate of the twenty-first annual convention the legion's new leadership will be pledged to pursue efforts immediately to strengthen the army, navy and air force. Its administration likewise will be bound by the delegates' decision to favor neither congressional camp in the current dispute over the arms embargo.

Of the six candidates for commander whose supporters were most confident of victory, Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit was considered by many legionnaires to have the edge.

The convention resolutions committee said it would present today an expression opposing change of the traditional date of Thanksgiving on the ground it might be "too close to Armistice day, Nov. 11."

Many On Way Home
Life in the loop became more subdued last night as many of the estimated 250,000 legionnaires and members of their families headed homeward.

A final plea for national unity in the interests of neutrality was made to the convention by Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs.

A greeting from President Roosevelt was brought to the convention by the administrator, who said the nation's chief executive "has a sincere interest in the progress made by the American Legion and in the welfare of our million members."

The lone fatality among convention visitors up to the final day occurred last night when Frank Brooks, 52, of Bellingham, Wash., past commander of the Washington department died of a heart attack in his hotel room.

Motorists Fined for Breaking Parking Law

Adjournment Date Still Uncertain, Legislators Find

Taxation and Several Other Bills Still to Be Disposed of Madison—(AP)—The legislature poised on the verge of sine die adjournment today but gave no definite indication whether it would quit this week or carry over to next week.

The house was involved in disputes over three bills besides taxes, which were holding up adjournment plans.

One was reconsideration of the vote by which the senate's public service commission reorganization measure was passed. It was placed yesterday on the calendar for next Wednesday but administration leaders attempted to bring it up for a final vote today or tomorrow.

Last minute negotiations also were underway in the house to save the state milk price control law which would expire on Dec. 31 unless re-enacted.

The compromise the assembly's hostility toward the milk law supporters were working on an amendment which would give the courts, instead of the department of agriculture control over revocation of milk dealer licenses.

A third bill which was causing trouble was the senate measure to re-enact business codes for the service trades—barbers, cleaners, beauticians and shoe repairers. The assembly previously had voted against allowing them to fix prices.

Governor Heil's nominations to the part-time advisory board which will control the new state welfare department remained before the senate with one change.

He agreed to withdraw the name of William Dougherty, Janesville attorney, who declined appointment because of business reasons, and nominated Prof. Lloyd Ballard, Beloit college sociologist, in Dougherty's place but he refused to accept the resignation of William L. Coffey, director of Milwaukee county institutions.

Coffey had asked the governor to withdraw his nomination but Heil said today he would not do so.

Milwaukee—(AP)—William L. Coffey, director of Milwaukee county institutions, said today he cannot accept appointment to the advisory board which will control the new state welfare department.

"I can't see my way clear to dividing my interests now between the county and the state," Coffey said upon his return from a convention in Toronto, Ontario.

"I have offered to help the new board from time to time if they believe I may be of any service, but I cannot accept a position on it."

Office Burglarized of Small Amount of Cash
The office of Dr. L. H. Dillon, 303 W. College avenue, last night, was burglarized of a small amount of cash according to police who are investigating. Entrance to the office on the second floor of the building was gained by breaking the glass in the door and opening it from the inside. An amount between $5 and $7 was taken.

Defer Meeting of GOP Executive Committee
The meeting of the executive committee of the Outagamie county Republican club scheduled for Friday evening has been postponed, according to Dr. C. L. Kolb, county chairman. Thawte eleng 08 mYt chairman. The meeting will be held next week.

Study Possible Appeal in Suit Over Aldermanic Wage Dispute

Although the final judgment has not been served on city officials in the city council's suit to regain salary cuts of $250 each, City Attorney Harry P. Hoeftel and the defendants are studying the decision to determine whether the case will be appealed to a higher court.

Municipal Judge Thomas H. Ryan Saturday ruled that only the council has the power to set the wages of city officials, thereby restoring the $500 salaries of Appleton's 18 aldermen. The wages were cut to $250 per year last April when the electorate voted 3 to 1 in favor of the reduction.

Hoeftel pointed out today that although the decision restores the salaries of the present aldermen, it does not affect the legality of the referendum which will become effective when current council terms are completed.

Nine terms will end with the new election next April and the remaining nine at the election in April, 1941. Beginning in April next year, nine aldermen will serve for $250 per year while the men with 2-year terms will receive $500 per year, Hoeftel said the ruling indicated.

Judge Ryan based his decision on a state law which provides that salaries of city officials shall be set at the first regular meeting of the council in February by a three-fourths vote of aldermen and that wages shall not be increased or diminished during the term of office. He quoted a decision of the state supreme court which declared that part of the law to be mandatory.

The decision further indicated that to be effective with the terms of the present aldermen, the petitions asking a cut in salaries should have been filed in city hall before the first regular meeting in February. This was not done, the judge said.

American ships and airplanes from carrying goods to belligerents. Shipping interests have urged revision of that provision.

The senate, in its brief session, voted unanimously to ask the attorney general for information on what powers were made available to President Roosevelt when he recently proclaimed a state of national emergency.

The resolution asking the information was proposed by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), Democratic Leader. Barker of Kentucky commented that he had no objection and thought the information might prove helpful to the senate in its consideration of neutrality legislation.

The resolution also requested the attorney general to inform the senate what other extraordinary powers, if any, were made available to the president "under existing statute in emergency or state of war."

New St. Patrick Church Minister Schedules Masses

Choir Announces Program of Special Musical Worship

Menasha — The Rev. Joseph Ahearn, recently appointed pastor of St. Patrick's congregation, has announced the fall and winter schedule of services effective Sunday, Oct. 1, and in conjunction with his announcement, the choir has announced a program of special musical worship for the masses.

Low masses will be at 6 o'clock, 7 o'clock, 8 o'clock, 10:30 and 11:30. A high mass will be at 9 o'clock. Sunday morning a special early morning mass will be read at 4 o'clock for the convenience of men of all city parishes who plan to go hunting.

Special services will be held at the first high mass of the season at which the newly appointed pastor will officiate. For the service, special hymns will be sung by the adult mixed choir. Among the special hymns will be the stirring Latin greeting to a new pastor, "Vivat, Vivat Pastor Bonus."

List Choir Members
The mixed choir includes Miss Joseph, Naomi Backus, Mrs. H. J. C. Roserov, Miss Ethel Champagne, Mildred Kloeppel, Mrs. William Ryan, Mrs. Henry Schmalz, Mrs. Mary Kaser, Genevieve Hickey, Joseph, Mrs. R. O'Keefe, Joan Hickey, Dorothy Bernat, Ethel Harold, Rita Verhoven, Mrs. Ivan Sdlip, Alvina Zelinske, Marjorie Schommer, alto; Martin Meyer, Frank Poplinske, George Champagne, Frank Hammett, Salvatore Porto, the Rev. A. S. LaQue, tenors; John Kemmeter, Walter Pierce, Henry Jung, Roy Verhoven, C. E. Cass, Lee Freund, Glen McParlan, James Shea, Adolph Hyson and Gerald Anderson, basses.

The choir is under the direction of Marvin Kaiser, Fond du Lac. Miss Dorothy Gemmel is organist and officers of the choir are Frank Poplinske, president; Adolph Hyson, vice president; Frank Hammett, secretary-treasurer.

Schick Tests Will be Conducted at Neenah

Neenah — Weighing and measuring of all grade school students and Schick test clinics will be conducted during October in the school health activity program conducted by Miss L. Evelyn Scholl, city and school nurse.

The Schick tests, according to the plans, will get underway Monday, Oct. 16 and conclude Oct. 27.

Work being done this month includes distribution and collection of health records, arrangement of health cards and tests, vision cas-guests of honor at a reception Friday evening in the church. A special program is being planned. All members of the congregation will attend.

Plans for attendance at the Grand Chapter sessions in Milwaukee Oct. 3, 4 and 5 and for a dinner night at the Neenah chapter meeting Oct. 11 were discussed at the Neenah chapter, Order of Eastern Star, Wednesday evening meeting in Masonic temple. Cards were played during the social hour with prizes awarded Eli Walters and Edna Blume in bridge, Bernice Washburn and Ella Littlefield in schafkopf.

Mrs. Herbert Kruse, 216 W. Doty avenue, entertained three tables of bridge Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Doris Smith, Hollywood, Calif., who is visiting her parents here. Honors in bridge went to Miss Smith, Miss Dorothy Korotev and Miss Sara Sande. Miss Smith will leave for the west coast Saturday.

Eighteen members of the Friendly Folks club toured Banta Publishing company in groups of six as a feature of Wednesday afternoon's meeting. The members returned to the Twin City Y. W. C. A. for tea after the tour. Plans for a guest meeting at which Nancy Grey will be featured in a talk on fashions were discussed. Nancy Grey will be the club's guest speaker sometime in March.

Plans for several projects for fall and winter were discussed but action was delayed until the next meeting when 25 members of the Mothers' Circle of First Presbyterian church met Wednesday afternoon in the church social hall. Mrs. Robert Anderson conducted devotions. A potluck supper was served.

Dorothy Canfield Fisher, her life and works, was the study topic at the Neenah Study club meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Morris Sawyer, Van street. Mrs. Mabel Wilkes and Mrs. Edith Kerr were in charge of the topic.

Fourteen members of the Circle 2 of the Ladies society of Whiting Memorial Baptist church worked on articles for the fall bazaar at a meeting Wednesday afternoon in the church social hall. Mrs. Peter Seitz and Mrs. Hazel Nelson were hostesses during the social hour.

Thirty-nine members of the Auxiliary to the Neenah Eagles attended the Appleton Auxiliary meeting Wednesday evening at Appleton. The Neenah Drill team presented work during the evening program.

Plans for sponsoring a motion picture, "Martin Luther and His Times" Oct. 6, were discussed at the meeting of the Men's Club of St. Paul's English Lutheran church Wednesday evening. Program plans for fall and winter were considered also.

6 Commercial Courses Available at Neenah

Neenah — Six courses in the commercial department will be offered in the Neenah evening school which will open next Monday night. They are typing, shorthand, dictaphone, bookkeeping, calculator and business English.

The typing and shorthand classes will offer both beginning and advanced training. Bookkeeping will be on the elementary level designed for those who have had no training in the field or who wish a systematic review.

The calculator course offers standard machine calculation in addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. A limited number of enrollments will be taken for this course because of limited equipment.

The business English course is offered as an opportunity to review and improve grammar, the parts of speech and the written word. Special attention will be given to business letter writing and to other business forms.

Tests for teachers, recording diseases, census notices, listing of names for goiter, prevention, checking health cards, organization of health survey charts and inspection tests.

Ladies Society Group Makes Plans for Apron Show, Tea

Menasha — Plans for an apron style show and tea Oct. 18 were discussed at the meeting of Group 1 of the Ladies Society of First Congregational church Wednesday afternoon following a 1 o'clock luncheon at which Mrs. Hugh Stranke and Mrs. Clarence Schultz were hostesses. Four young women and one child will be chosen to model the aprons.

Gertrude Bergstrom Circle, Junior King's Daughters, will hold a picnic meeting in Menasha park Saturday afternoon.

B. B. Sorority will meet at 7:30 Friday evening in First Congregational church social hall. Plans

Homemakers Club Elects Officers At First Meeting

Mrs. Kenneth Harwood Is Named President of Neenah Group

Neenah — Mrs. Kenneth Harwood was elected president of the Neenah Homemakers club at a meeting attended by over 120 members. Mrs. Fred Bentzen was named vice president and Mrs. M. L. Leffingwell was named secretary and treasurer.

Registration for charter members followed the election and 63 homemakers signed. Due to the fact that a number of interested persons were absent, an opportunity will be given at the October meeting for others to join.

Committees also were named. Mrs. F. Worzella is chairman of the program committee and will be assisted by Mrs. John Holzman, Mrs. J. Handeside, Mrs. Charles Sorenson and Mrs. August Schmidt.

Social Committee
The social committee chairman is Mrs. Peter Abraham and she will be assisted by Mrs. Paul Kuckenbecker, Mrs. George Parker and Mrs. Harry Foster. Members of the committee on membership and hospitality are Mrs. Oliver Thomsen, chairman, Mrs. George MacDonald, Mrs. Ruth Foth and Mrs. Harvey Leaman. Mrs. Irma Kyle is the chairman of the publicity committee and will be assisted by Mrs. L. A. Carpenter.

Miss Ruth Graham of Detroit gave a demonstration of electric cooking at the meeting, assisted by Miss Josephine Engel, home service director of the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company. Bread was baked, an oven meal and bread skill meal were prepared and chili was cooked in the cooker. A new version in beet cookery also was demonstrated.

Women's Gym Class Will be Organized At Evening School

Neenah — Women's gymnasium classes will be organized under the direction of Mrs. Ole Jorgensen at 7:30 Monday evening, Oct. 2, at the Neenah High school gymnasium as part of the Neenah evening school program. It was announced today by Carl Christensen, director of the school of vocational and adult education.

The class will meet from 7:30 to 9 o'clock on Monday and Thursday evenings for a term of 10 weeks. The type of work offered will include conditioning exercises, folk dancing, apparatus work, and recreational activities. Tournaments in badminton, shuffleboard and ping-pong will be arranged, and volleyball teams will be organized and games with teams from other nearby communities will be scheduled. Emphasis will be stressed on the type of work selected by the group. All women interested in physical education work are requested to enroll on the opening night.

Knights Will Sponsor Retreat at Appleton

Menasha — Nicolet council No. 1838, Knights of Columbus, will hold an annual retreat this weekend at Monte Alverno retreat house at Appleton. The retreat will open at 7:30 Friday evening and will end at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

All members of the Knights of Columbus from the Fox valley have been invited to participate in the retreat. T. D. Spalding is the chairman of the committee which has planned the event. Other members of the committee are E. M. Hutton, Ben Boldt, M. H. Small, F. L. Broeren and F. C. Burroughs.

Date for Installation Of Officers Is Chanced

Neenah — Installation of officers of the Junior assembly of Equitable Reserve association No. 1 will be at 6:30 next Thursday night at ERA hall instead of Oct. 12 as originally planned. Installation of officers will be followed by entertainment.

Not Everybody Is as Careful About Truth as the Newspapers

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — With special interest I listened the other night to that part of an oration by Congressman Ham Fish which dealt with propaganda and false report, because the reference brought to mind an interview with Mr. Fish about two years ago wherein he himself revealed, in aggravated form, that very carelessness regarding the source and truth of information against which he now lectured his fellow citizens. At that time our statesman, representing the deep pluck district which includes the homes of President Roosevelt and his mother, was about to return to one of the Hudson river towns for a political jollification and had prepared a speech giving his distinguished neighbors the rough side of his tongue.

His offices are adorned with souvenirs of his feats in sport and war, for he was a Walter Camp all-American at Harvard in 1910 and captain of a Negro infantry company in several battles in France and once upon a night in 1917, presented himself at the officers' mess of an Alabama unit with an offer to fight the best man present on behalf of his soldiers, who were suffering from lack of food. He was, but mentally and physically he gives an impression of not having aged by an hour since he left Harvard or, for that matter, since he entered.

On this day in Washington Mr. Fish tossed across the draft of his address to his constituents and sat back obviously anticipating irresponsible chuckles. He had wrought some pretties, and, as Harold Lockes will allow, the effect of a speech comes not so much from the thought content as from the casual whammies placed at the end of the paragraphs. These are not easily done but are the result of much stall-waiting, lasting sometimes far into the night, and in most cases, are tried out on the little woman or the secretary. I am not a good guinea pig for such experiments, having a rather high boiling point in the matter of oratorical humor, and I am sure Mr. Fish was entirely unprepared for my startled interruption at the point where he accused the president's mother of receiving $35,000 from the government for the repairs and maintenance of his home, which Mr. Roosevelt was using for his summer White House.

Based the Story on One of His Fax Letters
I asked Mr. Fish where he got this information, assuming, of course, that he was sure of his facts, and he replied by flipping out of a nest of papers a fax letter from a constituent signed with a name which meant nothing to him. That was all he had to go on. He didn't know the person, the person gave no authority or proof and Mr. Fish himself had made no effort to check, but was going to use as fact an item of gossip which, incidentally, later kicked around the country until Steve Early, in a story called "Below the Belt," recently took notice of it and spurned it with his foot.

Later in the same oration Mr. Fish, on no better authority, was going to repeat another hot but scandalous rumor about Mr. Roosevelt, also, without checking and with no qualms or qualifications whatever. This one, I believe, was the report that the president's own father, in his will, had provided that Franklin should have no hand in the management of the estate because he had no appreciation of the value of or meaning of money. I think that was it, but if not it was equally unpleasant and probably equally untrue, as this one proved to be when, after receiving the same report in a dozen or more letters from various cities, I checked the will, on file at Poughkeepsie.

Pegler Impressed by Comparison of Methods
Mr. Fish seemed surprised at my quibbles on these two points and said he could qualify them by saying "it is said" or "it is believed," apparently under the impression that that was the way newspapers acquired information and absolved themselves of libel.

As to whether he finally did use this material once it had been challenged I don't know, but I was impressed by his recklessness as compared to the ethics and care of newspapers in preparing to use it to the point where a question of authenticity was raised.

I was similarly impressed recently by a speech delivered under cover of his congressional immunity by Senator Minton of Indiana, who once offered a bill for newspaper censorship in the interests, as he said, of truth. In this address the senator flatly charged, but without a word of proof, that a dozen prominent Americans had corrupted

'Apartment Cookery' Course to be Given

Menasha — A course in "Apartment cookery and its problems" to help the modern girl and homemaker who works all day has been planned by the homemaking department of the Neenah evening school.

Mrs. Edward Hawley will be the instructor. The course will include information about preparing meals from cans and boxes of foods, and quick frozen vegetables, meats and fish.

Enrollments in the course will be taken at the Kimberly school sewing room between 2 and 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. Enrollments also will be taken from 7 to 9 o'clock Monday night at Neenah High school. Class time can be arranged to suit the convenience of interested groups during the day or evening.

11 Pupils Enrolled In Classes for Deaf

Eleven pupils have been enrolled in the classes for the deaf at Morgan school this year. Ely Sires is the teacher for the intermediate studies while Peggy Robinson teaches the primary subjects.

GUIDANCE MEETING

Sophomore home room teachers of Appleton High school will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon to discuss home room guidance for sophomores. The guidance program for the year will be outlined.

APPLETON, WISCONSIN, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1939

Neenah Primed to Upset Kaukauna in Conference ScrapChristoph Optimistic Despite Injuries to Two Regulars

NEENAH — A crippled Neenah high school football eleven will face Kaukauna, defending champions, in its opening North-eastern Wisconsin conference game at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Kaukauna.

Despite the fact that two regulars are injured and probably won't see much action against the Kaws, Coach George Christoph isn't at all pessimistic as the Red Rockets prepare for the conflict.

Clifford Bunker, quarterback, and Roy Douglas, center, were injured last Saturday when Messmer High school, Milwaukee, defeated the Rockets, 13 to 7, in the season's opener for the Rockets.

If the regulars' injuries don't heal in time, it is likely that Christoph will replace Bunker with Dino Burts, a husky freshman, while Daniel Kuehl will be assigned to the line's pivot position.

Iron Out Miscues
Mistakes which appeared in the Messmer game were ironed out during the first two days of practice this week, and Wednesday afternoon the varsity scrimmaged against Kaukauna players.

The Rockets are a strong, powerful team, but they still are the underdogs, for the Kaws, last year's conference champions, are considered the team to beat this season. The Kaws, already having marked up two victories this season, defeating Menasha and Menasha-St. Mary by lopsided scores, will be on their own gridiron.

Neenah, however, always has given Kaukauna a rough battle, and although the Kaws have won most of the games they did so by close scores. Last year the Rockets played the champions to a 6-all dead lock.

Christoph probably will start the same team he opened up with against Messmer, which includes Robert Hackstock, left end; Harold Holverson, left tackle; Richard Meyer, left guard; Kuehl, center; Donald Koerwitz, right guard; Gerald Johnson, right tackle; Eugene Calloway, right end; Burts, quarterback; Buxton Kettering, right halfback; Clifton Allen, left halfback and Eugene Larson, fullback.

St. Norbert Will
Invade MinnesotaGreen Knights to Battle
St. John, Gopher State
Champions

West De Pere — St. Norbert college football team will travel to Collegeville, Minn., Saturday to meet St. John's university, champions of the Minnesota college conference.

The Knights opened their season last Saturday with a scoreless tie against Wheaton college of Illinois. Coach Mickey McCormick found much to be improved in the offensive and defensive tactics of his team, which is drilling extra hours this week in preparation for the St. John's contest.

Sarring injuries in practice, the St. Norbert team will be at full strength for its second game with the exception of Bill Hickey, Juneau halfback, who will be on the sidelines for at least two weeks with a leg injury.

An almost complete sophomore line is in prospect. At center McCormick figures on using Neile Carper, Sturgeon Bay. The guard posts probably will be taken by Norbert Rickter, Green Bay and Billy Berg, Antigo. Bill Neis, Juneau, will be at one tackle with Sterling Shipla, Oconto senior, taking care of the other. Bob Duquette, Antigo, and Bob Bachhuber, Mayville junior, will be at the wings.

Werner Finke, Mayville senior, and Leroy Floriano, Hormansville, Mich., junior, will be the only two veterans in the starting backfield against the Johnnies. The other spots will be taken by Leo Hartman, Juneau, and Rodney Legener, Green Bay, both sophomores who were outstanding in last week's opener.

Clang of Locomotive Bell
Sent Ripon Gridders Home

RIPON — (AP) — The sound of a locomotive bell in a San Francisco world's fair pageant made two Ripon college football players touring the west so homesick they returned this week to resume gridiron and scholastic lessons.

"That bell," said Ed Buckley, big sophomore tackle from Racine, "sounded just like the victory bell rung on the campus after a game's been won. We had been debating the wisdom of looking for a job on the coast or returning to Ripon. We got so homesick when we heard the familiar clang that we had to come back."

Cavalcade of the Golden West? The engine made me think of the Ripon Redmen. When Ed suggested we go back to school, he took the words right out of my mouth.

Both in the near-200 pound class, Buckley and Dubow were standouts on the fresh squad last year.

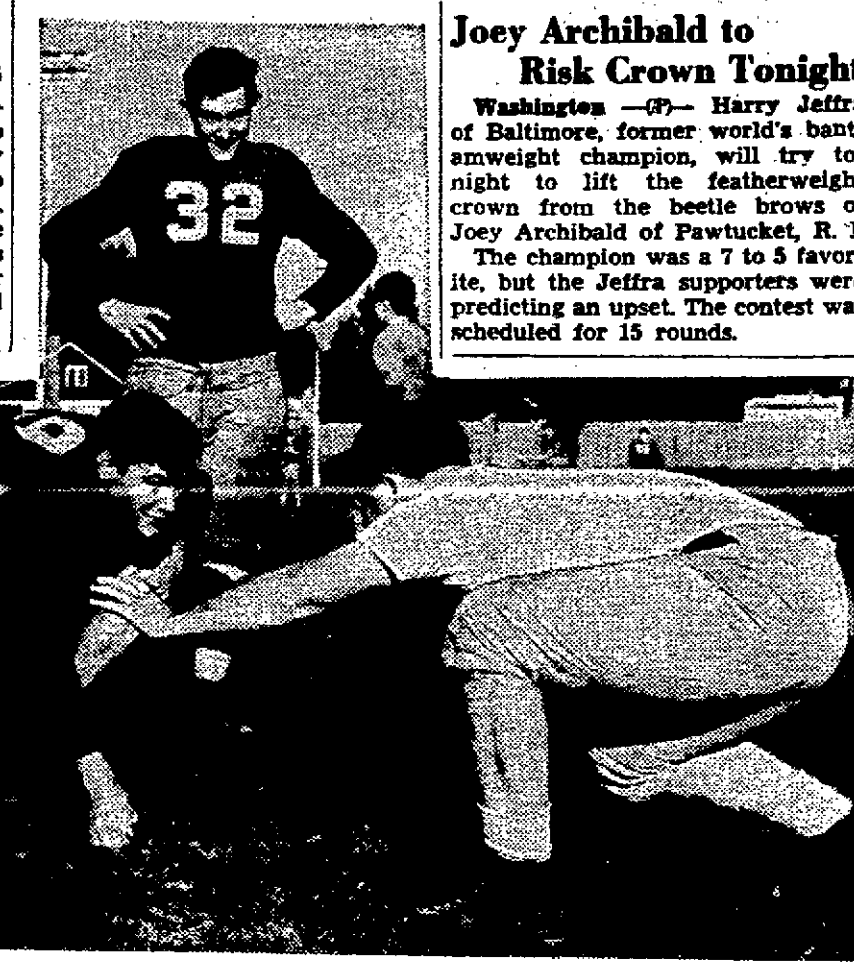

Short of big, rugged men in both line and backfield, Coach Carl Doehling brightened visibly when the prodigals reported for duty. He got another lift when Walter Wall-schlaeger, sophomore tackle who starred with Ripon High school, changed his mind about not playing this year and turned out for practice.

These returns compensate somewhat for injury absences. Eleven varsity candidates are walking the sidelines this week nursing minor and major bruises and strains.

Chicago Bears Beat
Cincinnati Bengals

Cincinnati, Ohio — (AP) — The Chicago Bears, of the National pro football league, scored twice by land and twice by air last night to beat the Cincinnati Bengals, 26 to 6.

The Bears tallied in each of the first three periods. The Bengals counted in the first period after Pat Howlett intercepted a pass and ran 65 yards.

NEW LONDON LINEMEN GET PERSONAL INSTRUCTION

New London High school gridders will show at home Friday night against Menasha St. Mary and Coach Greg Charlesworth isn't taking any chances on losing the game. So this week he spent time with several of his new linemen as shown above. The boys down in position are Cliff Schoeneck, guard, and Lewis Bellile, end. Karl Heimrich, regular center, is watching the proceedings. Schoeneck and Heimrich are seniors and Bellile a junior. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Cincinnati, Card Infields
Haven't the Class of Yanks

NEW YORK — (AP) — Your Aunt Martha out in Kansas would be mighty proud of her stitching if she could turn out a patchwork quilt as gaudily jumbled as the infield those Cincinnati Reds are tossing against the Yankees in the world series.

Between Larry MacPhail, in his day in the Rhineland, and Will McKechnie they have put together an inner defense that should at least be in the oddity department of the diamond's hall of fame.

The Reds' quartet might not even make the series, but if they don't the St. Louis Cardinals, who would replace them, wouldn't take a thing away from the conglomeration. The Gas House Gang, too, has a cocktail crew, well mixed.

Still these four fellows from Cincinnati have done pretty well in the National league this year as a unit. Buck McCormick on first base, batting a gaudy .328, has made sweet William Terry's face very red since William refused to give him a chance with the Giants, and Lonnie Frey, Billy Myers and Bill Werber all have been better than expected.

Yankess Weaker at Bat
Of course, they don't figure to outshine the inner cordon of the Yanks' defenses. Yet, oddly enough, the famous Yankee infield is weaker in batting than the Cincinnati quartet, man for man, except one spot. That's on third base, where Red Rolfe, off his play this season, is only the No. 1 hot corner guy in the business. Rolfe and McCormick were the only big leaguers with 300 hits each for this fading campaign.

The Rhineland four will have it all over the world champions in mixed color and background. Take Frey, for instance. Before he wound up in Cincinnati, he was Brooklyn's problem child for years. Some of you undoubtedly still remember the afternoon Lonnie let two or three around tails roll, unhindered, through his legs like an ambulance going through a red light. And Van Mungo, whose temperament is not angelic at best, slammed his glove down on the mound and refused to go on pitching until they took Lonnie out of there.

Werber has hit about 290 this year, but before he landed in Crosley field he bounced around the American league for seven years.

The other half of the infield quartet, McCormick and Myers, the shortstop, landed in the Rhineland by way of the Polo grounds, although Torrey never put either in a ball game for the Giants. McCormick has been an extra-sized ball of fire during the last two years and has driven in 126 runs this season, while Myers, although somewhat jittery at times, has played a lot of shortstop for a flag-winning outfit.

No Gehrig at First
Turning to the Yanks, it's going to seem mighty funny not to see

Washington — (AP) — Harry Jeffra of Baltimore, former world's bantamweight champion, will try tonight to lift the featherweight crown from the beetle brows of Joey Archibald of Pawtucket, R. I.

The champion was a 7 to 5 favorite, but the Jeffra supporters were predicting an upset. The contest was scheduled for 15 rounds.

In Final Scrimmage
Before Opening Tilt

MADISON — (AP) — A hard scrimmage between the second and third varsity teams and the freshmen, yesterday concluded work for the University of Wisconsin drill squad and only polishing up drills will be held before the first game Saturday against Marquette.

As has been the case the last few days, the Badgers did not come up to the expectations of their coach, Harry Stuhldreher. After the drill he said, "I certainly hope the boys have all the poor playing out of their systems."

Freshmen started the drill on offense and scored one touchdown. Missed assignments, poor blocking and passing caused the two varsity crews no end of trouble when they turned to the defense.

Gile with Seconds
Stuhldreher, announced the second team that scrimmaged yesterday would get the first call when reserve power was needed. Gordie Gile worked with that squad but only because he missed play the day before due to a pulled muscle. He is expected to be at left end in the starting lineup Saturday.

Ralph Moeller and Ed Wegner, held down the second team end posts; Eric Fagerstrom and Rex John, the tackles; Don Kolbus and Harry Knickelbine, the guards, and Johnny Doyle, the center. The backfield consisted of Claude York at quarter; Bob Cone and Don Miller, halfbacks, and Bob Peterson at full.

While the reserves were scrimmaging, the first string eleven continued to smooth out its offensive power. The team ran plays — several of them new ones — but had no hard body contact work.

The squad will take limbering up exercises today and continue to work on plays, get assignments down pat and drill on kicking and passing.

For Angle Tangle Saturday Afternoon

Kimberly — With a hard-earned victory over a heavy Chilton high squad, Coach Hamann and his griders now are preparing for their next tussle with their ancient rivals, St. John of Little Chute.

The teams will lock horns Saturday afternoon on the Little Chute ball diamond. The Hollanders took last year's struggle, 6 to 0, on an intercepted pass late in the final period. Coach Hamann's Pape-makers are conceded to be the under dogs in the coming battle with only one veteran on the team.

The regulars and freshmen came to grips in an intensive scrimmage Wednesday afternoon. The blocking and tackling of the squads was never better with the tacklers getting their man by the ankles and keeping him down. The varsity squad is slowly rounding into good form and should have the much needed edge Saturday.

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

ALL baseball fans are more or less spellbound at the moment by the flaming fight between the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals for the National league pennant and a place in the world series.

It is a spectacle well worth anybody's attention, what with St. Louis staving off the seemingly inevitable clincher by Cincinnati, shutting out the raging Reds for 14 consecutive innings in two days and beating Bucky Walters, 4-0, yesterday.

As the clubs took the field for the final game of their series they stood:

W. L. Behind To Play
Cincinnati 94 56
St. Louis 91 53 2 1/2

It's a red-hot scrap that might be decided today or might go to the final inning of the season Sunday. But it was not one bit hotter than the fuss for third place in the two major leagues. World series proceeds don't all go to the players on the two championship teams, you know.

Cubs Win
In the National league the Chicago Cubs, staring desperately to salvage something from the 1939 season they lost this year, were locked in a struggle hold with the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Cubs clawed their way through two 10-inning games yesterday to nose out the Pittsburgh Pirates 9-8 and 9-5 and move two percentage points ahead of Brooklyn, which was idle. Today the Dodgers play two games and the Cubs will be idle. So it goes.

In the American league the Cleveland Indians captured both ends of a freak afternoon-night double-header from the White Sox 5-2 and 7-3 to move half a game in front of Chicago. Harry Eisenhart scattered the hits he gave in the afternoon and John Rigney didn't. In the night game the Indians slugged for Bob Feller's 23rd victory, although he had to be removed for a pinch hitter.

Home runs by Pete Fox and Charley Gehring earned a 7-4 triumph. Turn to Page 19

BADGER BRIEFS

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles on University of Wisconsin football players.)

BY DAVE ROWE
Madison — (AP) — One of the few men slated as a "sure-shot" starter on the 1939 University of Wisconsin football team, is Bill Schmitz, halfback from Madison.

Schmitz is in his third year as a regular. He stands 6 feet and hits the scale at 191 pounds—11 more than a year ago. This added heft should prove valuable to him when he fires "strikes" in Coach Harry Stuhldreher's tricky aerial attack. Likewise, it will enhance his chances of bettering his 1938 average of 4.1 yards per try on running plays.

Schmitz hit his peak in the Iowa game last season. He scored a pair of touchdowns—one 67 yards on an off tackle smash, and then intercepted a pass and sped 50 yards for another counter.

He averaged 11.9 yards per punt return and is one of the deadliest tacklers in the Big Ten.

Schmitz comes from a family of athletes. His uncle, Justin M. "Sam" Barry, one-time Lawrence college student, is head basketball coach and assistant in football at Southern California. He planned to enroll at the West Coast school but "homesickness" brought him back to Madison.

He is allergic to hayfever, but this year he appears to be in the best of condition.

WALTERS LOSER

Rhinelanders to Depend Upon Paul Derringer Today

BY JOHN FRYE
CINCINNATI, Ohio — (AP) — There, has never, in the century of baseball, been a pitcher who could win a ball game without at least one run on his side, and easy-going Paul Derringer can only rope he doesn't have to try to be the first today.

The big Kentucky iceberg was, the Cincinnati Reds' last hope to clinch their second pennant in the life of the National league without going into a dogfight with the Pittsburgh Pirates or needing the unpredictable cooperation of the Chicago Cubs against the rushing St. Louis Cardinals over the weekend.

For those Cardinals have battered down the Reds' second pitching line headed by Lee Grissom and have broken the great Bucky Walters' mastery over them and in all that time the Reds have scored not a run.

In fact, Fiddler Bill McGee's four-hit, 4-0 job yesterday ran the Reds' string of nothing to 24 whole innings, dating back to the second inning of the Tuesday opener, when Billy Myers hit his three-run, game-winning homer.

Further, the Reds' made their presence known in the second and third games by a slight total of eight hits, only two of them for extra bases.

With this in mind, Derringer, who has won 24 and lost 7, must work today either against Curt Davis, whom the Reds chased in the opener, or Max Lanier, the Cards' high-flying rookie. Big Paul has beaten the Cards twice this year, lost one and tied one.

Still Have Chance
And he is in a spot where, holding a shaved margin of 24 games, the Reds can have the pennant today if they only agitate their bats.

Of such agitation there was practically none yesterday. Fiddler Bill gave each batter about half the ball and it either went up or it went down.

The Reds loaded the bases in the third on Walters' single, a low throw by Stu Martin on Werber's double-play bouncer, and an intentional walk to Ival Goodman. But two were out and Frank McCormick, who leads the National league

WALTER Grimmer sized a 227 game and William Lesselyong rammed a 605 series for top individual scores during Industrial league matches at Arcade alley last night. Schlafer Company showed high team game of 983 while Frederick Barbers and Pond Sport each registered 2,763 for team series honors.

Frederick Barbers won three games via the forfeit route from Riverside Papers and stand alone at the top of circuit standings. The boys got in some practice with Joe Reynebau cracking 600 with games of 201 and 200, F. Yelg banged 203 and O. Gossen rolled 202.

Pond Sports took their second place when they won three games from Montgomery Ward. Bob Schmidt steamed games of 201 and 211 for a 583 series and Kuntz whipped a 224 game for the winners. J. Boehler was high for the losers with a 512 series.

Power Stumble
Power Company tumbled out of a first place tie when the squad lost two games to the Post Office. Grimmer came through with his high game and a 583 series and Harold Brinkman tossed a 202 game for the victors. Carl Schaefer topped the losers with games of 207 and 209 for a 599 series.

Wire Works and Mellow Brew hooked up in a series with the former getting a higher total score. Lesselyong paced the winners with games of 203 and 213 for his high series. Wally Gressens pumped games of 210 and 200 for a 579 triple and P. Delain added 208 for the losing quint.

Atlas Printers downed Tuttle Press in two games as Urban VanderVelden scored 515 and A. Meyer pegged 218. High for the losers was Chet Merkle with a 201 game and 517 series.

Embossers Win Two
Two games went to Atlas Embossers in a match with Schlafer Supply Company. Lyle VanderVelden lead the way with a 553 series and Heitzel uncorked a 205 game. Topping the losers was Harold Lipfert with a 515 triple.

Al's Bar won the odd game from Woolen Mills as Orville Perrine tripled 504 Ray Crane punned 203 and 559 and Herb bagged a 200 for the losers.

Coated Papers took two from Chair Factory as Lawrence Rockner counted 213 and 576. Eddie Lietz mainstayed the losers with a 563 count.

After that it was no soap. The Reds never got that close again.

All the time the Cards were picking up what they needed. Singles by Joe Medwick, Terry Moore, and Martin produced one run in the second. Mike walked and came in on Padgett's double in the fourth, and Padgett moved to third on Lombardi's low throw trying to pick him off, and then scored on Moore's fly. Finally Moore hit his 6th home of the year in the ninth.

So it was a droopy crowd of 25,000 that struggled into the street cars.

Chaff Chatter

By Gordon H. McIntyre

EVERY FALL when football season comes around, we are asked why we don't give this team or that team a "break" in football stories because it "held" this or that squad to a low score or won what folks have learned to know as moral victories.

But we'll bet those same people wouldn't give credit to a fighter who got on a bicycle and stayed 10 rounds with Joe Louis. That type of defensive effort doesn't please them.

Nor would they give credit to a baseball team that defensively played great ball but couldn't hit a lick and therefore finished down in the second division. They'd holler for hitters.

They wouldn't give credit to a basketball team that played defensive ball all the way to hold down the score and failed to get baskets itself. They'd want a couple guys who could shoot.

And we could go on and name other sports that don't pay off on defenses nor on moral victories. But somehow, folks believe in those things when it comes to football. And we don't.

Frankly, we're tired of hearing that such and such a team played a great game and still lost by a couple touchdowns. Football pays off on offense and the only time we'll recognize a good defense is when the team making the stand is ahead or saves itself from being scored upon throughout a game and thereby earns a tie.

When a group of boys get down low and battle all afternoon to stop another team part of the time, and are scored upon on other occasions, they deserve some commendation. But defensive play is the easiest part of football. Throw any 11 husky boys out there and they'll go a long way toward stopping the other guy with no training at all. The payoff comes on having boys well-trained in football fundamentals, trained how to block, how to run interference, how to carry the ball, how to pass it and how to outsmart the other team.

That's how we feel about football.

The Little Nine conference recently met and discussed a few things concerning athletics. Only Bear Creek and Winneconne are interested in 6-man football. . . . There'll be a rules interpretation meeting for coaches and officials at Brillion Oct. 30. . . . Three Appleton officials will work in the league: Al Gaffney, Norman LaHarr and Jack Notebaart. . . . Some of the schools will give the officials the help of ball tossers. . . . Seymour invited the schools to a volleyball tournament and indicated it was interested in archery as an interscholastic sport.

The old report that Pittsburgh and Nebraska will join the Big Ten has bobbed up again. But there is no confirmation.

Jimmy Dykes, manager of the Chicago Sox went out and played third base against the St. Louis Browns the other afternoon. It was the first time his name was in the box score this season and as he warmed up, Fred Haney of the Browns cracked, "Only one man is allowed in a position; get those three men off third base." Dykes merely patted his increasingly ample middle and laughed.

But let Howard Roberts of the Chicago Daily News tell the rest of the story.

"I wouldn't dare go up and try to hit. I haven't been at the plate all year. I'll play the first half inning and then give the job back to Boob (McNair). And if they start to punt I'll get the hell out of there sooner!"

My boys are fighting for third place and I'm not going to wreck their chances through any fielding blunders of mine."

"So out stride Jimmie, and to his consternation, the first batter, Don Heffner, bunted Luckily, Don hit a short foul fly which Dykes grabbed with a one-handed running catch. Next came Myril Hoag, who slammed a screaming line drive off Dykes' glove for a hit.

"Scarcely had the play been completed than the Sox charged out from their bench, bearing a stretcher. They grabbed Dykes, placed him on the stretcher and carried him hastily to the dugout. Then out came McNair to take over the third base chores and the game went on with a chuckle."

Fond du Lac is hot after the Washington Redskins. It wants them to do their training in Fondy next season and has everybody and his brother working on the project.

Ken Slattery of Appleton is listed among the Wisconsin freshman gridgers. . . . Another is Bill Deppe, Racine, who'd still be at Lawrence where he was a frosh last year if Wisconsin hadn't offered too much to Bill and a brother who is a ranking cager.

Dick Plasman, Chicago Bears' giant end who played much of the game without a headguard Sunday at Green Bay, crashed into a concrete wall in the end zone at Wrigley field last year and suffered a compound fracture of both wrists.

More bad news for Appleton football fans and gridgers: Fond du Lac and Oshkosh let their B teams tangle in a game the other day with Oshkosh winning, 7 to 0. . . . That's how you learn to play football; not by getting routine instruction.

Here's an item that probably should be on the society page where women would see it. But maybe women do read this column, or perhaps friend husband will pass the word along.

Anyway, the YMCA is trying to organize an afternoon bowling league for women. Interest has been shown in the group but several more teams could be used. Women interested should contact Ray Risch, Y physical director.

Robbins had a 202 and 526 for the Roofers.

In the other match, Heckert Shoes bumped the Nolan Insurance squad in a pair. J. Detry rolled a 428 and R. Davis 427 for the Insurance five W. Koss had a 494 for the Heckerts.

MARQUETTE TO DEPEND ON SOPHOMORES

COACH Paddy Driscoll of the Marquette university football team is counting heavily on these five backfield sophomores as he plans for the Hilltoppers' strenuous 1939 campaign.

The Marquette eleven will open its season against Wisconsin at Madison on Saturday, and will make its first Milwaukee appearance against Kansas State on American Legion night, Friday night, Oct. 6. Eight games are on the schedule.

Sophomore halfbacks include handsome Freddy Rice, Fremont, O., youngster who is 5 feet, 11 inches tall, weighs 180 pounds and can also play fullback; Johnny Goodyear, La Grange, Ill., versatile 188-pounder who may be the key man in the 1939 Golden Avalanche attack, and Jimmy Richardson, Milwaukee, a 155-pound lightweight, who has been outstanding in early fall drills and looms as one of the best passers in Marquette history. Many other newcomers augment the squad.

Another fullback candidate and one of the best punters on Driscoll's squad is Bob Rank, Oak Park, Ill., 180 pounds, and 5 feet, 10 inches tall.

In the backfield are Tom Garrity a letterman from last year, at quarterback, Chub Klotzbuecher, and Reinhold Plotter at the halves, and Les Ernst, a big boy weighing 190 pounds and Bob Barrington, a mere 125-pound mite.

Others who have been for practice include: Centers Len Sullivan, Bob Herman; guards, Louis Hass and Tom Schider; tackles, Ken Ras-pected this year and who was the bright light in the line last Friday and Alvin Miller, another promising boy. At one end there is Bob Yohr, a rangy junior, and at the other Len Behnke.

The center position, while the guard duties have been divided between a trio consisting of Wilmer Gehrk, Rufus Froemming and Bob Langman. The former played last year and the latter two were members of the 1938 squad.

At the tackles are two veterans Paul Gartzke, of whom much is expected this year and who was the bright light in the line last Friday and Alvin Miller, another promising boy. At one end there is Bob Yohr, a rangy junior, and at the other Len Behnke.

Cleveland Boasts High Pass Average In Initial Games

Predict Overhead Duel With Packers Sunday Afternoon

GREEN BAY — The Cleveland Rams, who top the National Football league clubs in passing efficiency, will be here Sunday to have it out with Curly Lambeau's air-minded Packers and every indication points to an overhead duel which will have the spectators gasping for breath between tosses.

League statistics show that Dutch Clark's team has a 53 per cent passing average. In other words the Rams have completed 25 out of 47 aerials they have attempted in two games.

Parker Hall, rookie back from Mississippi, is the ace pitcher for the Clevelanders, but Gaylon Smith, Southwestern, and Corby Davis, Indiana, also take a hand in the forward passing just for the sake of variety.

Two Assist Clark

The Rams are operating this season with a three-man board of strategy. Head Coach Dutch Clark is assisted by Art Lewis, tackle, who directed the Clevelanders last year after Hugo Bezdek faded out of the picture. It was while Lewis was at the helm that the Ohioans staged their victory spree which included a pair of wins over the Chicago Bears.

Captain Tom Hupke, one of Alabama's great linemen and an outstanding guard in the Pro league for a half dozen years, completes the brain trust for the Rams. Dutch Clark doesn't play any more but either Hupke or Lewis are always in the lineup and this assures capable direction on the field of play.

In Chuck Cherundolo and Jerry Dowd Cleveland has two above-par snapper backs. This is Cherundolo's third year in "cash-and-carry" football while Dowd is a freshman from St. Mary's (California) where he played three years of varsity ball and was mentioned often on all-America selections.

Illinois Sophs Bode Trouble for Title Aspirants

Jimmy Smith Is Zuppke's
Best Bet as 'Explosive'
Runner

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (P) — No one is giving the sophomore studded Illinois eleven a championship nod this year, but it may still be a Big Ten title menace so far as Northwestern, Michigan and Ohio State are concerned.

Illinois faces all three of those highly regarded contenders and the manner in which five of its sophomores have been acting up bodes only trouble for the title aspirants. Jimmy Smith, 170-pound halfback from Murphysboro, Ill., ranks as the probable No. 1 trouble maker. Coach Bob Zuppke's best bet in his hunt for an "explosive" runner, Smith, contributed more flash yesterday as the varsity raced to three quick touchdowns over the freshmen preparatory to Saturday's opener with Bradley.

Purvis Shows Well
Chuck Purvis, senior understudy to the left halfback, demonstrated his own capabilities with two of the touchdowns, one for 77 yards. Paul Molisevich, who with Flip Anders, another sophomore, gives the Illini a speedy end combination, scored the other on a pass.

Dave Miller of Toulon, Ill., a fourth sophomore, was expected to handle the right halfback duties once he recovers from an injury, while Joe Turek appears headed for a regular guard post.

Varied Activity
Activity at other Big Ten camps took on varied forms as six other conference members drilled for season's openers Saturday.

Shakeups were the order of the day at Iowa, Northwestern, Minnesota and Michigan. The juggling came in the backfield at the first two schools and in the line at Minnesota and Michigan.

Offensive tactics occupied Purdue in its workout for Notre Dame. The Irish, too, drilled on offense, passing and running their way to eight touchdowns in a scrimmage yesterday with a reserve team.

Indiana drilled on covering kick offs and punts, Chicago and Ohio State on blocking and Wisconsin on offensive formations.

Purdue was the only conference team to open away from home Saturday. It plays at South Bend. The rest of the schedule: Beloit at Chicago, Bradley at Illinois, Nebraska at Indiana, South Dakota at Iowa, Arizona at Minnesota, Marquette at Wisconsin.

Joliet, Ill. (P) — Abraham Lincoln Bailey, 44, a former pitcher for the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League, died yesterday at the home of his sister. He had been ill for several years. Bailey was with the Cubs in 1920.

FROSH. SOPHOMORES CLASH IN TRADITIONAL BATTLES

Wearing the oldest clothes they could find, Lawrence college sophomores and freshmen scrapped and clawed their way through the annual All-College day contests Wednesday afternoon at Whiting field, the sophomores coming out victorious for the first time in the history of All-College day. The hodge-podge of legs and arms and faces in the top picture represents part of the "chicken" fight, which was won by the freshmen. One of the girls' events was a balloon blowing contest, also won by the first year class. The balloons had to be blown till they burst when the next girl in the line could begin hers. Checked on by her fellow freshmen, Miss Betty Marquardt, Milwaukee, had her balloon almost to the breaking point when the lower picture was taken. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Utah picked up two games from Gonzaga as Petersen showed 515. High for the losers was R. Wenzel with 524.

Marion, Bear Creek To Clash Friday in 6-Man Football Game
Marion—Marion High school griders will indulge in 6-man football competition against Bear Creek this week. They clashed last year with Marion trailing 14 to 0 at one stage of the game. The Pigeons finally won by a score of 35 to 24.

The biggest football attraction of the Marion season will be staged Oct. 13 when Omro shows on the local field. There will be a parade and floats Thursday night, Oct. 12, and a big bonfire.

Brietz Hears Pittsburgh Pirates are on the Market

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK — (P) — Pittsburgh visitors say the Pirates are on the market (despite denials). . . The reason they aren't bringing more than a nibble is that the price is way up there. . . Bronko Nagurski, whose burping tour of Australia and South Africa has been cancelled, figures the war knocked him out of a cool $25,000. . . Those Red-Card jousts look like the real thing with four umpires on the job and President Ford Frick on hand to keep an eye on 'em. . . There'll be a wholesale housecleaning if Frisch does go to the Pirates.

Prosperity Note
The Reds figure they'll send back $250,000 in World's series reservations. . . One customer sent in a check for $5,000, but all he got was two pairs and a refund.

Holy Name Midgets Upset Chilton Team
Kimberly — When Coach Father Hietpas' Holy Name Midgets defeated a strong Chilton team Wednesday afternoon in the ball park by a score of 13 to 6, he sighed with relief, because his young charges were so badly outweighed that few believed the Midgets had a chance. Holy Name blocked well but their large opponents had too much beef, so quarterback Vandenberg Heuvel took to the air and passed to Van Hout for a touchdown.

Del Gaffney intercepted a Chilton pass on the opponents 30 and with good interference scored another touchdown for Holy Name Coach Hietpas sent in his subs in the third quarter and Chilton began to click, marching down the field to score. Before the next kickoff the Holy Name regulars were sent back in and were satisfied to play a defensive game to protect their lead.

Sacred Heart Gridders Meet McKinley Friday
Out after its third straight victory, Sacred Heart footballers will meet McKinley school graders at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at McKinley school field. McKinley will be attempting to avenge a 6 to 0 defeat in an earlier game. Ralph Bartell, former coach of the Appleton Reds, is coaching the Sacred Heart team.

Other activities at McKinley play grounds are volleyball, washers and various types of games. The work is conducted after school and on Saturdays with Sadie Junco in charge.

But He Can Fight
When "Good Time" Charlie Friedman, the fight manager, returned to the coast, he left his heavyweight, "Silent Joe" Hill, in charge of a Broadway character named Mushky Jackson. . . Jackson sat down and wrote to promoters all over which said in part: "Silent Joe" Hill can't speak nor talk. . . Besides that, he is dead and dumb."

Golden Boys
Syracuse will use a gilded football for the lack-offs in all home games this year.

Today's Guest Star
Daniel C. Ortiz, Santa Fe (N. M.) Examiner: "What we call wasted energy is the sports-casters who still announce each evening how many games the New York Yankees are leading the Boston Red Sox."

The Rev. F. C. Reuter registered high individual scores of 257 and 608 during Lutheran Brotherhood league matches at Elks alleys last night. He paced Best Tea company to top team totals of 1,069 and 2

Catholic Study Club Opens Its Season at Clintonville Home

Clintonville—The Catholic Women's Study club opened its season at a meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Nick Geiger, with Mrs. Anton Bohr as the assisting hostess. The program included a spiritual reading by Mrs. Francis Higgins; two vocal solos by Miss Patricia Egan of New London; a travel talk by Mrs. C. R. Kant on her recent trip to California; and a talk on "Catholic Action and Study Club Work" by Mrs. David Egan, chairman of the New London group of Catholic Women's clubs; and a discussion of activities of the New London Study club by Mrs. George Ross, program chairman of that group. The meeting closed with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Geiger and Mrs. Bohr.

The next meeting will be held Oct. 24 at the home of Mrs. Carl Schilling with Mrs. Fred Fumelle as the assistant hostess. At a meeting of the Order of Eastern Star Tuesday evening at the Masonic temple it was decided to sponsor two food sales this fall in place of the annual supper. Following the business session, bridge was played with prizes going to Mrs. J. E. Long and Mrs. G. H. Billings. Lunch was served by a committee headed by Mrs. Clarence Quail.

John Geer Succumbs
To Heart Disease

Clintonville—John Geer, 69, a resident of Clintonville since 1927, died of a heart ailment at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at a New London hospital where he had been confined since Saturday.

Born April 14, 1870, at Moores Forks, N. Y., he came to Wisconsin at the age of 14 with his mother, who located at Marion. He was engaged for a number of years as a harness-maker and lived on a farm east of Marion for a few years before moving to Clintonville. The family resided on E. Madison street. Mrs. Geer died Nov. 28, 1933.

Survivors are two sons and four daughters, John Geer, Appleton; Donald Geer, Bear Creek; Mrs. Morris Russell, Fulton, N. Y.; Mrs. Martin Winter, and Mrs. Arthur Schoenheide of Bear Creek; and Miss Mildred Geer of Milwaukee; a sister, Mrs. L. W. Llewellyn of Appleton; and 7 grandchildren.

The body will be at the farm home of Mrs. Arthur Schoenheide until Saturday morning. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the St. Boniface chapel by the Rev. E. C. Stubenvoll pastor of Christ Lutheran church. Interment will be made at Graceland cemetery.

Dr. Walch Speaker at Meeting of Lions at Long Lake Clubhouse

Clintonville—Dr. F. C. Walch of this city was the guest speaker at the Lions club dinner Tuesday evening at Long Lake. His talk was on the subject, "Prophecy and the Present War". As a student of the Bible and of the Great Pyramid in Egypt, Dr. Walch explained how this war and the last European conflict were predicted. He also cited prophecy pertaining to the rise of Hitler as a great leader.

There will be initiation of several new members at the next meeting of the Lions.

Mrs. Stanley Warner was honored at a farewell party given by her club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Driesen on N. Clinton avenue. A book review on "With Malice Toward Some" by Margaret Halsey was given by Mrs. Lloyd Pernot. The author tells of a year spent in England with her husband, who had an exchange professorship at Devonshire college. The remainder of the evening was spent in sewing, after which a luncheon was served. The club members presented Mrs. Warner with a gift.

Mrs. Harley J. Powell entertained in honor of Mrs. Warner Tuesday afternoon at her home on N. Main street. Two tables of bridge were played, with a luncheon following the games. High honors at cards went to Mrs. Walter Rohm and a gift was presented to Mrs. Warner.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. W. De Long of Appleton visited at the home of Mrs. Smith's father, Mr. De Long, who has accepted a position.

Dinner Party Given
At Medina Dwelling

Medina—Mrs. Sophie Bose of Dixon, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. William Knaack of Oshkosh and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Earle and Mr. Charles Knaack were dinner guests at the Solomon Yankee home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Smith and son Robert were called to Waukegan Saturday because of the illness of Mrs. Smith's father, Mr. Basing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Leppla of Antigo, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Streich of Oshkosh and Mrs. W. W. De Long of Appleton visited at the Robert P. Wason home Thursday.

Wiley Advises Calm Discussion Of Embargo Act

Urges Service Clubs to Consider Neutrality Question From All Sides

BY RUBY A. BLACK

Washington — Deeply perturbed over what appears to be hysteria in the discussion of the neutrality issue, Senator Alexander Wiley, of Chippewa Falls, is urging his constituents to keep calm and study the question thoroughly. He has also urged that the service clubs of America fully discuss the subject. Writing to Fred W. Parker, secretary of Kiwanis International, at Chicago, Wiley said: "The thought occurs to me that, in view of the widespread mental confusion in relation to the question of whether or not the partial embargo act (neutrality act) is a misnomer should be repealed, it would be wise to have this subject fully discussed before the service clubs of America."

"My own opinion is that it would be well for America, if we would listen to the calm voice of reason and not to ranting impassioned pleas of prejudiced self-seekers."

To Talk on Radio

Senator Wiley is expected to make a definite stand when he makes a radio speech in Milwaukee, from 9 to 9:30 p. m., C. S. T., Oct. 10. Meanwhile, he issued the following statement: "The question as to what legislation will best secure for our country the peace we all so earnestly desire is a very serious one and in my mind a debatable one. I, therefore, have considered it right, not having been a member of the senate when the present bill was under discussion and passed in 1935, to listen to the arguments pro and con and get all the light and information possible before determining my stand. I have felt that as a senator of the United States I should remain calm and keep my mind open for light and truth and not be mentally stampeded. "It is my opinion that the failure to repeal the present embargo act, or the repeal thereof, cannot be the immediate cause of our getting into the war, although I realize both sides claim such might be the case."

Card Party Given at Sherwood Residence

Sherwood — Ellsworth Ewy left Monday afternoon for his home in Westbrook, Minn., where he will spend the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Ewy, before leaving for St. Paul, where he has obtained a position at the Liberty State bank. Mrs. Edwin Schulz entertained the following at cards at her home Thursday evening in honor of Ellsworth Ewy. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spang and family, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Wagner and daughter Faythe, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hallett and daughter Colleen, Mr. and Mrs. George Schaefer and daughter Elaine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schulz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Schulz and family and Joe and Conrad Rossmeyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schulz entertained the following at cards Sunday evening at their home in honor of the birthday anniversary of their daughter, Dorothy. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Schulz, Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Schulz, Mr. and

Mrs. George Schaefer and daughter, Elaine, Mr. Ellsworth Ewy, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Schulz and daughter Mercedes, Misses Gertrude and Antonia Sevrnich and Conrad and Joseph Rossmeyer, Mrs. Schulz served lunch and refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. August Jahnke of Appleton entertained the following guests at cards Saturday evening at their home: Mr. and Mrs. Haren Phorno, Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. George Schaefer, and daughter Elaine, Ellsworth Ewy, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schulz and daughter, Mercedes of Sherwood. Mrs. Joseph Schmidt was pleasantly surprised by the following relatives at her home Sunday evening, the occasion being the anniversary of her birthday: Mr. and Mrs. Nick Schaefer and family, Mrs. Gertrude Mueller, Appleton, Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Holzschuh, Mr. Anna Derfus and daughter Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Ivo Holzschuh and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs.

John Brantmeier and family. Cards were played and lunch and refreshments were served. SQUASH AND OYSTERS Stuff small squash (the acorn variety) with scalloped oysters, then bake them as usual. Serve them with a pickle relish, gelatin salad and a substantial dessert. That's an ample dinner for fall serving. Dim Lights for Safety

Safety Movies Will Be Shown in Three County Communities Safety motion pictures will be shown in three Outagamie county communities next week, according to Henry J. Van Straten, county superintendent of schools. The talking pictures will be shown at Hortonville Wednesday evening, Shiocton Thursday evening and Stephenville Friday evening. The programs will open at 8 o'clock. The pictures will be shown with the projection machine purchased by the Outagamie County Safety council. The meetings will be open to the public and parents have been urged to attend with their children of school age.

Hills Bros Coffee

...and green coffee is dried slowly in the sun

If you visit the Golden Gate International Exposition, you're cordially invited to see "Behind the Cup," a sound picture in Cinecolor, shown at Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre

"...AND GREEN COFFEE IS DRIED SLOWLY IN THE SUN." You'll hear this from those who visit Hills Bros. Exposition Theatre because the painstaking way coffee is dried for weeks in the sun is most impressive. Important, too! Thoroughness like this is maintained in every step in the production of Hills Bros. Coffee. The result? Everywhere people say, "Now that's what I call good coffee!"

A. E. Madler Chosen New President of Chilton Kiwanians

Chilton—Attorney A. E. Madler was elected president of the Chilton Kiwanis club at the annual meeting Tuesday evening. Other officers elected were Howard Schuch, vice president, and Earl Kroehnke, treasurer.

Dean Frank O. Holt, head of the University Extension Division, was the guest speaker. He spoke on "Education" and the present "World Scene," reiterating that "education was the cornerstone of our democracy and without it our democracy would not exist." For example he pointed out the conditions across the ocean, declaring "democracy at its worst is infinitely better than any type of dictatorship at its best."

Dean Holt was introduced by F. F. Schlosser, superintendent of Chilton schools, and the retiring president of the Chilton Kiwanis club. Other guests at the meeting were Chester Allen, field director of the university extension division, and William Hansen, superintendent of schools at Stoughton. A large crowd attended this being an open meeting for the Kiwanis club. Members' wives also were present.

Foresters Open Fall Season at Chilton

Chilton—The Catholic Order of Foresters held its first meeting of the fall season on Monday evening in the hall in the Fox building. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schaub of Berlin and Miss Ella Fagel and Emil Winch of Milwaukee spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Schaub and helped Mr. Schaub celebrate his birthday.

Miss Emily Dierich of Chilton has accepted a position with the William A. O'Brien company at Fond du Lac.

Misses Lucille and Genevieve King of Chicago and Milwaukee, respectively, visited their mother, Mrs. Catherine King and other relatives in Chilton over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin of Madison were weekend guests of the latter's father, James Oberbiller.

Mrs. Joe Kurth of Milwaukee spent the weekend with her family in Chilton.

Hunters' Lodge Being Built on White Lake

Royalton—A new hunters' lodge is being built on the east shore of White lake by a group of men from Manawa. Although White lake is not a public resort, like Bear lake, there are approximately 200 cottages on its shores.

The annual chicken dinner given Sunday by the St. Patrick's Catholic church at its parish hall netted $500. Seven hundred and seventy persons were served.

The Northport Community club has named the following as officers:

New London School Superintendent at Madison Conference

New London—H. H. Helms, superintendent of schools, left Wednesday in company with Superintendent Harley Powell of Clintonville to attend a state meeting of superintendents at Madison this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Gresenz moved Wednesday from 618 Dickinson street into the Hamilton house at 710 Dickinson.

Mrs. Katherine Goodell moved this week from 409 Shawano street to 501 Shawano street.

Weekend guests at the Ed Popke home were Mr. and Mrs. George Popke of Stevens Point, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Popke of Pittsville, Mr. and Mrs. George Rogler of Mattoon and Mrs. Milton Murray of Chicago. Mrs. Popke returned to Chicago Monday with Mrs. Murray to spend the week.

A visitor at the H. A. Gresenz home this week is Mrs. M. G. Peters of Milwaukee.

Miss Genevieve Schoenher, 108 E. Warren street, underwent an emergency appendectomy at Community hospital early Wednesday morning.

Lois Fribbernow, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fribbernow, was treated by a physician Tuesday night for severe burns on the palms of both hands. The child was burned when she grabbed a hot water pipe.

Canning Firm Fined For Truck Violation

New London—A representative of the Shawano Canning company paid a fine of $5 and costs in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers Wednesday morning for operating one of its trucks as a private motor carrier in a taxable operation without paying the tax. Payment of the tax also was ordered. The charge was made by James Morrissey, state traffic inspector, and a plea of nolo contendere was made by the company. The truck was operating between plants at Clintonville and Waupun.

Piety, N. Y.—(47)—William H. McClelland, retired public schools superintendent, has collected 2,000 specimens of stones. His favorite, he says, are those that show pictures. His prize, a piece of Vermont marble that shows a swimming dog.

for the school year: President, Wilis Elderidge; secretary, Mrs. Del Ortel; treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Walker. Committees plan each month's meeting. The committee for October includes Mrs. William Backes and Miss Nellie Stewart.

Mrs. Elizabeth Allen of Tacoma, Wash., is the guest of Mrs. D. C. Hayward.

"I SHOULD HAVE A HUSBAND WORK"

Movie Land Its People and Products

By Jimmie Fidler

Hollywood—"Dancing Coed," previewed the other night at Metro-Goldwyn Mayer, is a smash hit. It is also an apt illustration of one of Hollywood's chief follies, as the direct indictment of the "star-system" which has had studio initiative fettered for years.

The story, "Dancing Coed" was purchased by M-G-M many moons ago as a vehicle for Eleanor Powell.

Fidler After umpteenth scenarios had taken turns at remodeling it, the front office decided that it didn't suit Miss Powell's personality, and tucked it away on the shelf. And there it lay, month after month, while the studio's men of might waited about the death of good stories.

It would probably still be on the shelf had not Edgar Selwyn, one of Metro's associate producers, reversed the usual Hollywood procedure and put the horse ahead of the cart—where the horse ought to be—for a change. Instead of trying to fit the story to an already established star, he decided to take a very excellent story and find players, no matter what their standing, who would fit the roles. The net result is a fine picture and a brand-new, ultra-valuable star in the person of Lana Turner.

Will this striking demonstration show Hollywood the silliness of trying to tailor stories for stars? Not on your life! We will go right on... and on... thinking always in terms of box-office personalities and blissfully overlooking the fact that "the story is the thing." We're determined, especially when we're wrong.

MUTTERINGS: Why don't the sob-sisters let Loretta Young have her broken romances in peace? Height of something or other: Paramount's $50,000 exploitation campaign on "Rulers of the Sea," so good it needs no special exploitation—announced less than a week after the same studio fired 10 publicity workers to cut expenses. Wondering muse: Why doesn't the British government review Errol Flynn's publicity, get hep, and save manpower by letting him whip the Germans single handed? There's something very Hollywoodish in the little item about Patricia Morison, the screen just one year, gifting her parents with a town car. Frantic urge: to discover how George Raft preserved the knife-edge crease in his pantaloons during that heat wave. Can you think of Charles Boyer, now serving with the French army, as less than a major-general—I can't.

PERSONAL OBSERVATIONS: Maybe it's treason, but I can't get over the impression that Ned Sparks is fighting to hold back a smile. Wonder if the psychologists can explain why Kay Aldridge, America's most famous model, invariably wears simple little cotton dresses? Judged by the time-honored rule, Spencer Tracy must be strictly okay—there's no dog he mean to resist his blandishments. Jane Bryan has an intriguing habit of rolling her cheeks knee high when she sits at a luncheon table, thereby exposing a very intriguing pair of gums. You could trail Gladys George anywhere by the distinctive perfume she wears.

CUFF NOTES: The California State Chamber of Commerce has a special interest in "Elizabeth and Essex"—the first 10,000 yards of locally produced and manufactured silk are used in that picture... It's a new disappointment for Jon Hall—"The Fleet's In," which would have given him his first role since "Hurricane," has been indefinitely postponed by Sam Goldwyn... Have experiences shared in war-darkened Europe re-remembered the Robert Montgomery's marriage? Looks like the answer is "yes."

Class in Children's Clothes Is Offered

A class in sewing and designing of children's clothes will be offered at the Appleton Vocational school this fall. Miss Mabel Burke, head of the home-making division, said today.

The course is designed to help mothers solve the problem of clothing the children. Special stress will be placed on the adaptation of patterns to suit the child, durability of pattern, and material allowance for growth.

The making of dresses, coats, snowsuits, boys trousers and suits, remodeling, pressing, various types of seams, and other aspects of sewing will be taught. The class will start the week of Oct. 9.

Farmers Endorse Proposed Program On Dairy Products

Favor National Dairy Products Stabilization Act

About 60 farmers attending a legislative institute at the vocational school yesterday afternoon unanimously endorsed a bill which proposes a national dairy program and making dairy products a basic commodity under the AAA program.

The meeting was one of five being held in the state this week and was the third at which the program was given unanimous endorsement.

Kenneth Hones, Colfax, president of the Farmers Equity union and member of the Wisconsin Dairy committee, which with a Minnesota dairy committee drew up the bill urged the farmers to inform their congressmen that they want the bill. Hones said that only an active interest on part of the farmers would make it possible to have the bill enacted.

Almo Larson, Waupaca county, also a member of the state dairy committee, declared that if the bill fails, it will be only because of the indifference shown by the farmer. Under the proposed act, termed the Dairy Products Stabilization act, an allotment would be set up for each farmer. A parity price also would be set up, and at the end of the year he would receive payment provided the amount of butterfat placed on the market would be within his allotment. He also would receive the difference between the market and parity price, in case the market price was below the parity price. Penalties would be inflicted in case he exceeded the allotment.

Among those attending the meeting yesterday were farmers from Outagamie, Brown, Calumet, Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties.

At yesterday morning's session Hones and Larson explained the provisions of the bill as it is set up at the present time. It was explained that amendments may be made to the bill before it is up for final passage. The proposed act was introduced in the house of representatives and now is in the hands of the committee on agriculture.

More Demonstrations Being Held in Drive To End Creeping Jenny

Chilton—War on creeping jenny in Calumet county has begun and demonstrations at various farms to show the farmers just what the weed looks like and how to destroy it, are being held in the different townships.

As a result of the demonstration held on John Steinbach's farm in the town of Brill Monday afternoon, Elbert Radloff was instructed to order an additional 1,450 pounds of sodium chlorate.

Another demonstration will be held at 1:30 Friday afternoon, on Charles Wagner's farm in the town of Brothertown, located one-fourth mile west of the Brothertown Town Hall on County Trunk H.

At 10:30 Saturday morning, Sept. 30, a demonstration will be held on Charles Schmidt's farm in the town of New Holstein, one mile west of the city of New Holstein.

Weed control legislation and ways and means of controlling the noxious weeds was discussed at the city hall at Chilton all day Tuesday. Prof. George Briggs from the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture was the chief speaker and agents and agricultural committees from the following counties took part in the group discussions: Door, Sheboygan, Manitowish, Fond du Lac, Winnebago, Calumet, Waupaca, Outagamie, Shawano, Oconto, Brown and Green Lake.

Progressives Get Republican Help In Ballot Fight

Outagamie and Waupaca County Senators Vote To Kill Proposal

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Two Republican senators from the Outagamie and Waupaca counties districts this week helped Progressives in their fight to prevent what the latter claim would be an annihilation of the political organization founded by the LaFollette family.

Although the bill was advanced in the upper house Tuesday by a narrow margin, it is possible that early adjournment may kill the proposal authored by Democrats and Republicans to join the state and national election ballots in a single paper for the voters at the election booths.

Voting with the Progressives to kill the bill this week were several Republicans, including Senator Mike Mack of Shiocton, and Senator Fred Fisher of Waupaca.

Fear Submersion Because they have no national ticket, Progressive party leaders fear that the joining of the state and national ballots in presidential years will work to their disadvantage and effectively prevent a restoration of their power in the state.

On a single ballot, they point out, the Progressive candidates would be put in an unfavorable position because the Democratic and Republican presidential, vice presidential and presidential elector candidates would fill the first dozen or more spaces on the ballot, while the Progressives would be obscurely listed farther down on the paper.

In addition, the bill contemplates facilitating the marketing of "straight" ballots, which Progressives argue will give an unfair advantage to those parties which have national tickets.

But according to Senator Harry F. Bolens, 1938 Democratic candidate for governor and implacable foe of the LaFollette organization, is comes with ill grace for the Progressives to complain now because the Progressives earlier attempted on three separate occasions to wipe the Democratic party from the election ballot. Bolens did not describe the occasion.

Senator Fred Risser, Madison Progressive, characterized the bill as "the climax of a diabolical administration," while another Progressive, Senator Ingram of Eau Claire, warned that the bill will make martyrs out of Progressives, and moreover, force them into the national field by making in necessary for them to have a national slate of candidates.
